Newly Elected Mayor Talks
Over Radio and Warns
Gangsters to Move Out

CHICAGO, April 8.—(UP)—William Hale Thompson, master politician who served three terms as mayor of Chicago, has been turned out of office in favor of Anton J. Cermak, former Bohemian immigrant whose career began in the coal mines of Southern Illinois.

Cermak's smashing victory at the polls by a majority of almost 192,000 was "Big Bill's" first taste of defeat during his spectacular career.

Complete returns today from the 287 precincts as compiled by the police gave Cermak 666,439 and Thompson 474,808.

Followers of the Democratic president of the Cook county board hailed Cermak's victory as "the end of Thompsonism, waste, extravagance and crime." Civic leaders called the Republican incumbent's defeat a "tremendous step toward good government and prosperity."

The election was a record breaker in many respects. Thompson's defeat was the most overwhelming in mayoralty history. Until yesterday he held the record for rolling up the biggest plurality. Cermak's total vote was larger by more than 16,000 than the landslide for Senator James Hamilton Lewis last fall. Thompson carried only five wards out of 40.

Cermak lost no time in taking advantage of his victory. No sooner had he received news that he was elected than he spoke over the radio.

"This election marks the end of crime in Chicago," he told the listeners. "I shall serve notice on the hoodlum and gangster that he'd better pack up and get out or prepare for a long stay under restraint."

"Within a day or two I shall present my new cabinet to the council. A cabinet that will lead Chicago on to development and prosperity."

"This truly begins a new day for Chicago—a day of progress and creativity. Aside from making this city a safer and morally cleaner place to bring up children I shall

HUNTED FINANCIER COMMITTS SUICIDE

BEVERLY HILLS, April 8.—(UP)—A man who killed himself yesterday in Roswell, N. M., was tentatively identified here today as Benjamin P. Tatem, Beverly Hills financier, who was under $5000 bond facing 15 counts of grand theft.

Howard B. Henshey made the identification through information received from Roswell authorities. He said that the man who killed himself and left notes signed "P" was undoubtedly Tatem, for he disappeared last May 17, and was understood to have been in the southwest.

Burning Street Car Visits Fire Station

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—(UP)—Usually firemen attend fires. But today they had the novel experience of having the fire brought to them.

A street car motorman ran into the central station early today and excitedly announced that "there's a fire." Firemen hurriedly donned their canvas coats while the drivers started the engines of the trucks.

Fortunately before the firemen got any further in their preparations the motorman managed to yell out: "Hey, wait a minute. You don't need the trucks. The fire's out in front."

Firemen investigated and found a street car outside with the roof afire.

WILL OPERATE THURSDAY ON HAROLD LLOYD

Famous Comedian to Go
Under Knife for Chronic Appendicitis

HOLLYWOOD, April 8.—(UP)—Harold Lloyd, screen comedian, will be operated upon at 10 a. m. tomorrow for chronic appendicitis, it was announced today by Dr. William E. Branch, who will operate on Lloyd at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Lloyd has tried to avoid the operation for some time, Dr. Branch explained.

"He feels now that the operation is essential to his health and will undergo the operation tomorrow," his physician said.

The comedian faced the prospect with good humor. He had tried to keep it a secret.

First afflicted with the ailment last year, Lloyd has been dieting in an effort to escape the surgeon's scalpel. He took a course of treatment a month ago at a Santa Barbara hospital but his condition did not improve.

The film star is in no immediate danger, Dr. Branch declared. "He will be up and around in a few days."

SAN DIEGO VOTERS DROP MAYOR CLARK

SAN DIEGO, April 8.—(UP)—A new mayor, two new councilmen and a new city charter were chosen by San Diego voters yesterday, final count of the votes showed today.

Walter W. Austin, defeated Mayor Harry Clark for reelection by a vote of nearly 3 to 1 and Joseph Russo and Alfred Stahl were elected to the council, defeating E. H. Dowell, incumbent, and Leroy Goodbody.

Orton E. Darnal and Mrs. Vesta Muehleisen, members of the board of education, were returned to office.

The new city charter which was approved by the voters will give San Diego a modified city manager form of government.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE PUZZLES OFFICERS

FRESNO, April 8.—(UP)—Authorities here today were puzzled by the attempted suicide of Mack Bullens, 19, of Vancouver, Wash., who was found by a dog in an open field where he had lain all day yesterday with his throat and wrist slashed. He was nearly dead when the dog found him and by barking attracted J. E. Crane, rancher.

Bullens' wounds were made by a dull knife, although he had in his pockets several razor blades, hospital authorities said. At first Bullens had attacked him, but later he admitted he had cut himself.

Authorities were unable to get from him explanation of why he had used a dull knife instead of the razor blades.

Board Trade Chief Hits Farm Group

Claims Federal Board Has Failed to Maintain Fair
Wheat Price

CHICAGO, April 8.—(UP)—The federal farm board has failed to maintain wheat prices at a satisfactory level and its grain holdings constitute a menace to coming crops, James C. Murray, president of the Chicago board of trade, declared today in an address before the association of commerce.

These charges were followed by Murray with board of trade recommendations that the government should "divest itself entirely of the business of merchandising grain," permitting the handling of stores by private traders; that government funds should not be used at lower rates of interest in the merchandising of commodities in competition with the established trade; that a free and open market is essential to the best interests of producer and consumer, and that the market should be relieved of unnecessary detailed government supervision and bureaucratic control.

Murray attacked the farm board's grain stabilization program as inimical to orderly marketing on a basis of supply and demand, as he told how the board of trade provides work directly or indirectly for nearly 100,000 persons and maintains through its members bank balances of more than $200,000,000 to finance crop movements.

"Chicago is a market that annually takes the surplus load of a state like Kansas with its 160,000,000 bushels of wheat, to which may be added Texas, Oklahoma and Nebraska with 130,000,000, for a total winter wheat crop harvested in 60 days of 600,000,000 bushels, he said.

Murray's address was delivered on the eve of the celebration of the board of trade's 33rd anniversary.

Murray said the farm board had been ably managed by honest men for a period long enough to demonstrate its farm relief scheme ineffective.

PRINCESS ISABELLE WEDS COUNT TODAY

PALERMO, Sicily, April 8.—(UP)—Kneeling beneath a huge crown suspended before the high altar of the Palermo cathedral, Princess Isabelle of Orleans-Braganza was married today to Prince Henri, Count of Paris and heir of the pretender to the throne of France.

Hundreds of French royalists, exiled members of royalty and representatives of the royal houses of Europe witnessed the elaborate ceremony which united the two representatives of royal houses replaced years ago by Republican governments.

The wedding was celebrated by Cardinal Lavitrano, who was given permission to officiate by the Pope after considerable controversy over the arrangements due to the fact that 700 French royalists attended the ceremony.

SENATE COMMITTEE BACKS ROAD BILL

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—(UP)—New impetus to road building in California is seen as the direct result of a new joint highway district act given a favorable recommendation to the senate today.

As approved by the senate committee on roads and highways, the bill by Senator Roy Fellom, San Francisco, provides a new financial setup for the creation of joint highway districts between two or more counties.

The bill legalizes the issuance of bonds by the joint highway districts, and permits the use of gasoline tax funds for their retirement over a period of 15 years.

Bonds of the present districts have been questioned as to their legality and have proved to be virtually unsalable. The new bill would correct this condition.

AUTOMATIC FLAPJACK NOW LATEST THING ON BROADWAY

NEW YORK, April 8.—(UP)—Broadway, from Times Square to Columbus Circle, has gone goofy. The serious theaters have been crowded into the side lanes by the orange crush stands, the movie palaces, the fortune tellers and the freaks.

There are scores of drink stands along the great white way, purveying pineapple juice, cider, orange juice, hot dogs and even milk.

The mechanical urge is not lacking. There are machines that shine your shoes for a dime in a slot. You get your ice cream soda in a slot machine. Other shops contain machines which take your photograph, make a movie of your face, record your voice on a phonograph record.

And, glory of glories! An automatic flapjack has made its bow.

You go into a restaurant, sit down and push a button. Up in front a machine pours three spotches of batter on a moving strip of metal. The cakes ease along and, upon reaching a point where one side is thoroughly cooked, are flipped over with great agility. Thus they ride on, and by the time they reach the end of the line, they are done. They drop off neatly onto a plate and the waiter fetches them to you. They even tell you in the place that the waiter will soon be eliminated.

But this cropping out of merchandise is only a small part of Coney-on-Broadway. Old-fashioned shooting galleries are becoming popular again, along with penny arcades—the bioscopes where one may for one cent see "What She Didn't Tell Mother!" or "Marie Sees Paris!"

And the flea circus is always popular, with such side attractions as "Benny the Boy with Two Heads," "The Mysterious Whoo!" and "Fritzie—the Wrestling Snake."

CONDITION OF LONGWORTH IS STILL SERIOUS

Speaker of House of Representatives Suffering
From Pneumonia

AIKEN, S. C., April 8.—(UP)—Physicians attending Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the house of representatives, issued a verbal bulletin today stating their patient was suffering from pneumonia but that his condition was as good as could be expected.

"There is no immediate danger," the bulletin said.

Mrs. Longworth reached Aiken at 10:25 a. m.

Dr. Robert H. Wilds made the statement of Longworth's condition in behalf of himself and Dr. Thomas Brooks. The statement was as follows:

"Mr. Longworth has pneumonia of type four in the right upper lobe. There has been no extension to any other lobe. The pneumonia has continued for approximately two and one-half days.

"The patient's vitality and stamina are excellent and his condition is as well as could be expected. There is no immediate danger. His pulse, temperature and respiration are all satisfactory: Pulse, 110; temperature, 101; respiration, 28."

Dr. Wilds and Dr. Brooks are attending the patient. They expect to issue three daily bulletins hereafter but will not issue them from the James F. Curtis home where Longworth is a guest. Both Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. Curtis asked that inquiries regarding the condition of the patient be directed elsewhere. Miss Elizabeth Nelson, Washington, who long has known the Longworth family, is nursing the speaker in Aiken.

Mrs. Longworth arrived alone from Washington and immediately authorized Dr. Wilds to make a public statement of her husband's condition. Dr. Wilds explained to questioners that he had not previously defined the nature of Longworth's illness because he would not take the responsibility for a public statement without Mrs. Longworth's approval.

CITY MANAGER OF FLINT RESIGNS AS RESULT OF ELECTION

FLINT, Mich., April 8.—(UP)—John Edy, city manager, will tender his resignation tomorrow as an aftermath of the elections Monday at which the Flint city government changed hands, he said today.

The resignation would become effective April 30.

"The administration which brought me here went out of power Monday," Edy said, "and the new controllers of the city commission are antagonistic to my policies. There is no use in my staying here and attempting the impossible."

He said he had no definite plans. Edy formerly was city manager at Berkeley, Calif.

NEGRO VODOOISM CHARGED IN SUIT

FRESNO, April 8.—(UP)—Charges of Negro "voodooism" will be heard in superior court here when Mrs. Inez McDaniel and Columbus Brown are brought to trial.

Mrs. Ollie H. Brown, 70, wife of Columbus Brown, yesterday filed suit for repossessing of a $6,000 property, alleging she was deprived of it by the use of force and voodoo. Her complaint said her husband and Mrs. McDaniel were in love and combined force and voodoo to make her deed her property away last December 3.

She alleges Mrs. McDaniel claims she has the power to call up the dead and to read the past and future.

Mrs. B. Bealbrado, with a fractured right leg, internal injuries and severe cuts, was the most seriously injured. Mrs. N. Osano incurred a concussion of the brain and a sprained back, while her husband has an injured vertebra.

Cress Debera was reported still unconscious from undetermined injuries. All lived at the Kerr ranch.

Examination of the wreckage showed the steering wheel broke, officials said.

CAPTAIN EAKER TO ATTEMPT TO SET NEW MARK

Expects to Fly from Los Angeles to New York
Within 10 Hours

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—(UP)—The proposed attempt of Captain Ira Eaker to break the west-east record, originally scheduled for start at 3 a. m. Thursday morning, may be postponed until Friday unless weather conditions in the east and middle-west improve, the army flier announced today.

Captain Eaker planned a test flight to Rockwell field, San Diego, this morning, returning to Long Beach late today. If the weather improves, he will leave the National Guard airport at Long Beach on his original schedule, he said.

The noted flier who piloted the army plane "Question Mark" to an endurance record here two years ago, is flying a Lockheed Altair monoplane with retractable landing gear. It is the same ship with which Vance Breese recently set several Pacific Coast speed records.

It is Captain Eaker's intention to fly from Long Beach to New York within 10 hours, in an attempt to break the record of 12 hours, 35 minutes, three seconds, now held by Captain Frank Hawks. He will make only one stop for fuel, at Wichita, Kans.

Several weeks ago, Captain Eaker was forced down in Kentucky while making an attempted non-stop flight to New York. His new ship has a cruising speed of 240 miles per hour, compared with the 200-mile speed of the wrecked plane.

CLARA PHILLIPS TO KNOW FATE SOON

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, April 8.—(UP)—Clara Phillips, hammer murderer, may learn Saturday whether she will leave prison on parole, it was indicated today.

She has served slightly more than eight years of a sentence of 10 years to life growing out of her violation of the brutal slaying in Los Angeles of Alberta Meadows. Her parole application, filed last June, was slated for disposition this week end. Should the parole board follow its custom in murder cases, action will be postponed until she has served the minimum, at which time her sentence will be fixed or parole acted upon.

Capitalist, Former Secretary Fined On Morals Charge

PORTLAND, Ore., April 8.—(UP)—Nelson C. Bowles, Portland capitalist, and Irma C. Loucks, his ex-stenographer, were recently acquitted of murder charges. Mrs. Leone Bowles, charged $300 each on a morals charge by Judge Stapleton in circuit court here today.

They pleaded guilty and the sentence was recommended by District Attorney Lotua L. Langley. The whole affair took only a few minutes.

RASKOB AND WET PLANK CONDEMNED

Former Treasury Head Refuses to Attend Jefferson Dinner in L. A.

PLANS DISASTROUS

Says Liquor Cannot Be
Answer of Party to Economic Problem Today

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—(UP)—Hitting at the leadership of John Raskob, chairman of the Democratic party, and at those who would make the party wet, William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under President Woodrow Wilson, today declined to participate in a Jefferson day dinner here on April 13.

McAdoo was asked to act as vice chairman of the committee of arrangements for the Jefferson day dinner in Los Angeles.

In a lengthy statement which he concluded with the declaration "because my acceptance of a vice-chairmanship of the committee would identify me with a movement with which I find myself wholly out of sympathy," the former cabinet officer declined to participate.

"I am firmly convinced that the policies advocated by Chairman Raskob will, if adopted, bring certain and disastrous defeat to the Democratic party in 1932," McAdoo replied to Monroe Butler, chairman of the Democratic party in Los Angeles county.

"Realizing liquor," said McAdoo in his reply, "will not put food into a single hungry mouth nor provide employment for the great army of jobless men and women in the United States—more than 6,000,000 in number."

McAdoo declared that liquor could not be his party's answer to the economic problem confronting the nation.

"When we reflect that there must be an average of at least an average of two dependent people on each of the 6,000,000 unemployed, we can get some idea of the magnitude of the problem which these 18,000,000 people, largely without means of existence, present to the country," McAdoo said. "Is liquor the Democratic answer to this vital problem? If it is, then the party is too impoverished in ideas to enter even a snail's race."

McAdoo declared that wet advocates were fighting a hopeless battle in advocating a wet plank in the platform for 1932. He advocated state rights, the old Jeffersonian principle in Democracy, as the only possible chance for anti-prohibitionists to gain their end.

"To make liquor the chief plank in the next national platform is

CONDITION OF KING BELIEVED IMPROVED

WINDSOR, Eng., April 8.—(UP)—King George was slightly improved today, it was announced officially at Windsor castle.

Lord Dawson of Penn, Dr. Henry L. Martin and Sir Milson Rees, all of whom attended the king during his former serious illness, visited him for half an hour this morning.

Later they pointed out to the press that the nature of the king's illness, described as sub-acute bronchitis, necessarily makes improvement slow.

They said the king was not confined to bed, but that he would not leave his room at present.

Capitalist, Former Secretary Fined On Morals Charge

PORTLAND, Ore., April 8.—(UP)—Nelson C. Bowles, Portland capitalist, and Irma C. Loucks, his ex-stenographer, were recently acquitted of murder charges. Mrs. Leone Bowles, charged $300 each on a morals charge by Judge Stapleton in circuit court here today.

They pleaded guilty and the sentence was recommended by District Attorney Lotua L. Langley. The whole affair took only a few minutes.

put forth my best efforts to make Chicago the most efficient and the most modern city in the world.

When news of defeat reached Thompson, he smiled and announced that tomorrow he would be off on a cruise of the Mississippi river to boost his waterways plan.

"The people of Chicago have spoken," Thompson said. "I cheerfully abide by their decision. I congratulate Mr. Cermak on his election and as a private citizen will do all in my power for the up-building of our city."

The "old master" who has dominated Chicago for 12 years and whose circus campaign tactics always were successful until yesterday, seemed little grieved by his defeat.

With Cermak, enough Democratic aldermen were swept into office to give the party a majority of 30 to 20 in the city council.

Comment on Thompson's defeat and eclipse as a political factor for at least the time being, drew statements of praise from many civic leaders.

Fire Protection For Olive Section Is Now Assured

The formation of a rural fire protection district was made possible for residents of the vicinity of Olive as the result of a special election held yesterday when 57 votes were cast in favor of the proposition and but one against. There are 91 voters included in the district.

The new fire district will include the town of Olive and will extend west on the Olive-Anaheim boulevard to the Mendoza property, east on the Santiago boulevard to the Old Mill and north on the Santa Ana canyon road to the Olive school.

The election is the result of efforts of the Olive Improvement Association, which have been carried on for the past year.

Police News

Tom Taylor, 23, and T. Brown, 23, of Compton, were arrested late last night by members of the Orange county fruit patrol and are today being held in the county jail on suspicion of petty theft. The officers reported they found six sacks of oranges in a car in which the men were driving. The oranges were confiscated.

to fight a sham battle because the eighteenth amendment is here to stay anyway and the quicker we recognize it the better for Democratic usefulness," McAdoo said. "But if the fight is to continue the proponents of repeal who demand so violently about states rights have their remedy by applying their own doctrine. Let each state, in the exercise of its rights, demand, if it wants to, that congress shall call a constitutional convention to repeal the amendment. This will leave the question to the states, where it properly belongs, and will take it out of national conventions, which are powerless to do anything about it."

"We ought to say that the Democratic party, standing firmly for law and order, will if entrusted with power, devote itself to a solution of the unemployment problem so that self-respecting men and women, eager and able to work, shall have the opportunity to do so; that the intelligent and statesmanlike treatment which the Democratic party, under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson, gave to the banking problem, to the farm mortgage problem, to the tariff problem, to the great war problems, will be given to our agricultural problems; that effective regulation of trusts and monopolies will be provided so that they will not be permitted to crush little business and private initiative and extort undue profits from the people; that a rational, humane system of unemployment insurance and old-age pensions will be devised, through which a more equitable diffusion of the benefits of democracy may be secured for the eighty per cent of the people who have been reduced, under the Republican system of privilege, to the ownership of a trifling percentage of the wealth of the United States," the letter said.

Redlands Offers 15 Sites For New Federal Building

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(UP)—Fifteen offers of a post-office site at Redlands, Calif., were submitted to the treasury department today, of which the lowest was for $18,000 by the West Side Development association, described as lots 1, 2, 3, 12, 13 and 14 of block 2.

THAT MUSIC-MINDEDNESS IS GROWING HERE IS PROVED AT TREBLE CLEF CONCERT

One of the finest concerts ever offered in Santa Ana was given last night at the Ebell Auditorium by the Treble Clef Club of this city. Mr. William Clare Hall, director. The auditorium was filled to its capacity with music lovers coming from all directions to hear their own vocal club and after the first song every one felt that they were to have a very enjoyable evening.

The second number on the program was a group of two songs—"A Bird Flew" by Clokey and "My Rose Ain't White," Woodworth. The two numbers were sung by Lorene Hanson, Blanche Owens and Edna Richman with fine taste and clear enunciation.

The third group consisted of "Open Our Eyes" by McFarlane; "Trees" by Raskob and "Lift Thine Eyes" from Elljah, Mendelssohn. In this group the club showed good training and sang with a depth of feeling in true accord with each different song.

Conductor Offers Solo
In the fourth number the audience was rewarded by the conductor, Mr. William Clare Hall, who appeared also as soloist. He sang "The Bitterness of Love" by Dunn and "Verborghenheit" by Hugo Wolf with an understanding and fine interpretation, winning the heart of the audience which gave him a prolonged applause. He responded with an encore, "On My Old Side Car" by Waller, giving the Irish ballad a pleasing interpretation. Mr. Hall's voice is one of great dependability and his singing added a fine climax to the evening's program. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Allien Laif, who also understood the interpretation of the songs, giving him the proper support as an accomplished accompanist.

The second part of the program was opened with "Dawn" by Curran. The next two numbers were "As Torrents in Summer," Elgar, and the "Cradle Song" by Brahms, all three numbers being very well done.

FIRST BIG ANNUAL ROUND-UP LOOMS AS EVENT WHICH WILL ADD FAME TO SANTA ANA

The first annual Round-Up on April 11 and 12 will be put on here on Saturday and Sunday with the grand opening parade vending its way down Broadway to First and back to Main street Saturday morning.

The entry books will be held open until Friday night, but the manager, John E. Hartwig, states that in all his experience entries never have been received as fast as at the Round-Up to be held in Santa Ana.

The Stock Horse class will have a wonderful representation of some of the finest horses in Southern California and no doubt a keen rivalry will be shown for the beautiful cup and prize money which will be presented in the arena at the conclusion of the show on Sunday, April 12.

Cowboys from all sections have entered the various cowboy events and the bronco riding will no doubt be the most hotly contested riding ever seen as in addition to the prize money, one of the most beautiful gold and silver buckles and belt will be presented to the winner by the donor, Johnnie McCabe of the McCabe and Davis Saddlery company of Hollywood.

Makes New Ruling
A new ruling will go into effect at this show, that of the calf-roping contest, where the roper will be required to dally the rope around the saddle horn instead of the previous ruling of tying the rope hard and fast. The steering will be under the same ruling and these rulings are for the purpose of preventing the busting of animals.

The contracted trick riding and trick roping will be represented by champions in their respective lines and two of the funniest clowns will keep the crowds amused and in a continuous uproar.

Although the steer riding is considered by most people as boisterous cowboy fun, it is one of the hardest accomplishments to remain on the hurricane deck of the wild bovines which are now quartered at the fair grounds awaiting the many victims who will no doubt promiscuously bite the dust.

A number of races such as the keg race, in and out race, rescue race and half-mile race will provide plenty of fun and excitement for the spectators.

To Broadcast Events
The Texaco company is providing the most up-to-date loud-speaking system ever installed at any ground and the announcer, Abe Leffon, will keep everyone informed of the happenings. In addition to this system, the Texaco truck will take part in the parade and enliven it with plenty of music. The parade will take place on Saturday morning at 10 a. m., only, and will wind its way down Broadway to First and Main streets and will be led by the Golden Palomino Cowboy band. The grounds have been gaily decorated for the occasion and the public at large has already entered into a holiday spirit and to those who wish to remain after the Saturday show, a cowboy dance will provide entertainment at the grounds.

Ample parking space has been provided and nothing is being left undone to provide comfort and a first class entertainment to make the first annual Round-Up a successful undertaking and in the words of the manager, John E. Hartwig, one will not have to go elsewhere for thrills and excitement as this Round-Up and Rodeo will undoubtedly be classed as the best rodeo ever staged in Southern California.

After last night's concert Santa Ana music lovers were convinced that the Treble Clef Club is an asset to the community. This was well manifested by the continuous applause received, also from the expressions of congratulations received after the program. It is very gratifying to know the fine musical progress we are making, and let us hope we will be able to continue to give our community always the best music, making Santa Ana one of the most cultured and refined community in the Southland.

CITRUS CROP FOR YEAR IS 41 MILLIONS

turned to raisers of truck crops which includes all vegetables and peppers. Returns from peppers amounted to $408,403.

According to A. A. Brock, agricultural commissioner, the returns from many of the crops were less than in 1929 but the total for all agricultural products is the highest in the history of the county. This was due to the splendid returns from citrus fruits. While the production was only half, the returns were nearly one-third greater.

Considering general business conditions, Brock stated that he felt that the growers of the county were exceedingly fortunate in the marketing of their crops for the year.

Woman's Attempt At Suicide May Prove In Vain

The condition of Mrs. Anna Coutts, of 1407 Bush street, who was reported to have attempted suicide early yesterday morning in her home, was reported improved today by attendants at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where she is suffering from a severe wound in the throat.

Mrs. Coutts attempted to end her life by slashing her throat with a razor, police reported. She was found in the bathroom of the house by her husband, who removed her to the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Court Notes

A jury of 11 women and one man found Al Cady, Santa Ana man, charged with petty theft, not guilty, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday afternoon. He was charged with stealing 10 gallons of gasoline from a tank owned by the Newport Protection district. Officers confiscated his machine near the scene of the asserted robbery.

John A. Goetz, service station proprietor of 2555 North Main street, arrested by sheriff's officers several days ago on a charge of in the county jail due to his failure to make bail of $5000 demanded in his case by Justice Kenneth Morrison. Goetz is due in court on April 9, at 1:30 p. m. to answer to arraignment.

Nell E. Woody yesterday filed complaint for divorce against W. L. Woody charging cruel and inhuman treatment and habitual intemperance.

Complaint for divorce was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday by day by Emilie Bressel versus Julius Bressel, both of Anaheim. The complaint charges Julius Bressel with extreme mental and physical cruelty and non-support and asks that the court award the plaintiff the custody of four minor children and grant alimony for their support. An accounting of $17,000 worth of community property is asked.

Charging reckless driving, Anna M. Black yesterday filed a complaint against Homer Morris, et al. According to the complaint, the plaintiff was sitting in a parked car on North Main street on April 17, 1930, when a car driven by Morris crashed into them and seriously injured her. She asks that the court award her damages to the extent of $31,620.

Charging that he beat her until she lost consciousness, Jean R. Fishers yesterday filed complaint for divorce against Truman F. Fishers. The complaint also states that upon one occasion the defendant struck the plaintiff so hard that he broke a rib and that he seized her by the throat and beat her unmercifully.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

The poet sings, "He comes to make us sure that ere a man can be a saint, he first must be a man."

Do not lose yourself in definitions; keep on trying! Let others theorize and argue and discuss; give yourself to the task of quietly going on doing the best you can, and "with God be the rest."

It takes a man to keep on trusting God's love when your heart is broken, but you are going to do it. Yes, you are to discover how much his love and guidance and strength mean to you now that you realize your need of Him more than ever before.

Serves 3 Days Of 15-Day Term and Starts Probation

Albert Ross Costner, Pomona youth, sentenced to the county jail for a period of 15 days on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was freed today on parole after serving three days of the sentence.

Costner was sentenced in the Santa Ana police court by Judge J. F. Talbot, following his arrest over the week-end by city officers.

The parole was made due to the critical illness of the youth's mother, who is in the Pomona Valley hospital, according to the parole papers and conditions of the parole are that he is not to drive an automobile for 90 days and is to report each two weeks to the county parole board, made up of Sam Collins, district attorney, Logan Jackson, sheriff, and L. C. Rogers, chief of police.

FOUR INJURED IN TWO AUTO CRASHES

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in two automobile accidents in Santa Ana late yesterday.

Miss Marjorie Hoff, of 909 West Bishop street, is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, suffering from a broken pelvis bone and severe cuts and bruises, and two other persons were injured when the car in which they were riding was struck at Chestnut and Cypress streets at 6 o'clock last night by a car driven by Velenia Wickwell of Eugene, Ore., according to a police report.

Miss Hoff was riding with Lewis Hoff, the driver of the machine and Bill Jenkins. Both Hoff and Jenkins were cut and bruised. They were given medical aid at the hospital. The Hoff car overturned in the crash.

Mrs. C. E. Gilmore, of Huntington Beach suffered severe cuts and bruises on the leg when an automobile in which she was riding with her husband collided with a car driven by W. C. Gerko, of 825 French street, at 7:30 o'clock last night. The accident occurred at Sixth and French streets.

Mrs. Gilmore was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital and later removed to her home.

GOOD GOVERNMENT LEAGUE NAMES FIVE IT FAVORS FOR ELECTION ON SCHOOL BOARD

A recommendation to Santa Ana voters that they concentrate upon the names of Dr. Margaret D. Baker, Marion B. Youel, W. Maxwell Burke, John W. Estes and Rolla R. Hays when balloting for school board members on Monday, was issued today by the Good Government and Economy league.

Such a course, states league officials should insure proper school management on behalf of the 7800 students of the schools, and Santa Ana taxpayers who this year are paying $542,955.77 for the support of the school system.

The league statement follows: "We have investigated the Santa Ana school situation and its business management, and as outlined in The Register on Monday, find it lacking in conservative business sense in several instances.

"It must be borne in mind that the school board directs the expenditure of approximately one million dollars annually, and has charge of the business management of the schools. It also hires a superintendent and teaching force to operate the administrative department.

"The two departments should not overlap, causing internal friction, but should work together harmoniously for the benefit of the school students first, and the taxpayers, second.

Urges Against Handicaps
"Board members should be selected who will be unhampered by previous ties of friendship, relationship or politics, and who can undertake the task of reorganizing the school district's affairs without being handicapped in any way.

"The Good Government and Economy league undertook the task of considering candidates who had offered themselves for the school board with a feeling of humility, and realizing that at best, human judgment is subject to error. Eleven good men and women were in the field, and the selection of the five best fitted for the job, from all angles, was a difficult undertaking.

"The desire was to recommend five candidates who could be depended upon to conduct our million dollar annual school business with fairness and justice to everyone, particularly school students and taxpayers, and to choose an administrator farthest removed from the inharmonious lack of good management which seems to have prevailed.

"That was the purpose, but the direct application of that purpose in the selection of five candidates

Calvin Coolidge Says

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 8.—It will do no harm to have a reminder that when the congress passes laws requiring the expenditure of money the people will have to pay it. When a deficit exists it must be met. Temporary borrowing by the treasury may take care of it for the present but finally the taxpayers will come to a day of reckoning.

Raising tax rates does not now seem popular. Imposing a new levy on small incomes is anathema to those who vote large appropriations. Some legislators even boast of supporting all appropriation bills and opposing all tax bills. But people with small incomes will pay indirectly if they buy or use even if they pay no direct tax. They are the ones who suffer most from government extravagance.

The present high rate of taxes, especially state and local assessments, is one of the main reasons small concerns are closing up and their business is going to chain stores and other large corporations. The overhead of taxes is so large that a small business is at a serious disadvantage. From present appearances it will be a long time before the country will get the encouragement of national tax reduction.

commendations humbly, in a desire to assist the voters of Santa Ana, and for no other purpose. Each individual of course, should adjust this ticket to suit his own individual knowledge and preferences.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank our many friends for the kind expressions and sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our dear mother and sister, MARY AND MARCY ETCHERBERIA MR. D. ETCHERBERIA AND FAMILY.
MISS MARCELINA ETCHERBERIA MR. AND MRS. D. ETCHERBERIA AND FAMILY.

"Mrs. Baker, a recent appointee to the board, is recommended for re-election because she should not be penalized for acts of the board prior to her appointment and for which she is in no way responsible, and also because a woman's influence on the board should be of peculiar value in connection with the welfare of the city's school children and full co-operation between the schools and the P-T. A.

"The other four candidates are endorsed as business men of well-rounded and mature experience, who can devote the time necessary to the management of school affairs with independent judgment. Mr. Burke is a comparative newcomer to Santa Ana, whose experience as a lawyer, college professor and business man should be of value to the district. Messrs. Estes, Hays and Youel are well acquainted with Santa Ana conditions and are believed to be well fitted for school board duties.

"Voters should remember to vote for five members of the school board, and not lend their aid to any political trickery involving voting for only two or three candidates. This is not the American way to do things.

"The league presents these rec-

NOTED BLOODLESS SURGEON ARRIVES

Doctor Charles Kent, the noted bloodless surgeon, arrived in Santa Ana Monday for a limited time. His office is located in the small house at 822 North Broadway.

Doctor Kent comes from a long line of bloodless surgeons. He was born in the highlands of Scotland. He has spent the last 25 years in the United States from Boston to Los Angeles, relieving suffering humanity from all kinds of diseases. Doctor Kent says, "There is only one cause of disease. Bloodless surgery removes that cause and nature heals the body. I proved the success of my methods in one clinic in Los Angeles, where I had over 9400 complete cases of these so-called hopeless ones, and not a single fatality."

Defers Action On Deeding Property For Laguna's Park

Action on signing a deed to several acres of property along the bluffs west of Laguna Beach giving the property to the city of Laguna for use as a park, was deferred until next week by the board of supervisors at their regular meeting held this morning. The property was originally deeded to the county for use as a park and according to the board, Laguna is assured of being given the property providing it is used as a public park.

The Santa Ana post of the American Legion sent an invitation to the board this morning asking them to attend a dinner to be given Thursday night in the Legion hall in honor of State Commander Bud Gearhart, who will be present.

The cost production study compiled by the farm advisor's office was submitted to the board this morning by Harold Wahlberg, county farm advisor. The study encompasses the results made in compiling the costs and production of citrus fruits in the county for 1930.

3 Field Meetings For County Citrus Growers This Week

Three field meetings for citrus growers of Orange county are scheduled this week, according to announcement from the farm advisor's office today. The meetings will feature discussions on spring irrigation, cultivation, scale bark and the disease control measures. This will be an opportunity for growers to secure the latest information right in the field. Discussions will be led by W. R. Schoonover, citrus specialist, University of California; Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, Orange county, and W. H. Wright, deputy horticultural commissioner.

The schedule of meetings is as follows:
Tustin and Orange—Thursday, April 9, 10 a. m., Ross Shafter orchard on First street, between Prospect and Newport.
Anaheim and Garden Grove—Thursday, April 9, 2 p. m., J. J. Dwyer orchard, Garden Grove road, one-quarter mile south of Ball road.
Placentia, Yorba Linda and La Habra—Friday, April 10, 10 a. m., Ralph McFadden orchard, North Placentia avenue, one mile north of Chapman avenue.

All growers are invited to attend these meetings, according to Wahlberg. They are held under the auspices of the University of California and citrus department of the Orange County Farm bureau.

To elect Besser for city recorder is a change for the best.—(Adv.)

V.F.W. MEMBERSHIP GIVES INSURANCE

In carrying the message of the national home to prospective recruits every comrade is urged to remember that membership in the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. is equivalent to an insurance policy that guarantees the future care and welfare of a veteran's wife and children in the event of his sudden and untimely death.

This guarantee includes food, clothing, medical attention and shelter in a comfortable home equipped with every modern convenience. More than this, his children are assured of public and high school educations, which provide, if desired, vocational training. In addition to all these benefits, home ties remain unbroken and his children will never be deprived of a mother's love and caresses.

There is no time limit to this V. F. W. policy, no tricky clauses or excuses, once an ex-serviceman has affiliated himself with America's organization of overseas veterans. As soon as he assumes the obligation of membership, his wife and children become eligible, upon his death, to the V. F. W. national home at Baton Rouge, Mich.

No other veteran society can match this offer of protective insurance. Developed from an ideal incorporated in the principles of stewardship that dominate the activities of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the national home stands as a beacon of service and comradeship for those who served their country far afield.

Court Notes

Judgment favoring the defendants in an action began by Harris and Stunston Inc. of Los Angeles, in an effort to collect $616 for a water softener asserted to have been sold to the Yorba Linda Citrus Association, was decreed by Judge James L. Allen in the superior court yesterday afternoon. Harris and Stunston were refused judgment against the citrus company on the grounds that the water softener was not sold directly to the company, but was sold to W. F. Cruller, a contractor in Pasadena, who had filed bankruptcy petition recently. Evidence came out at the trial that the citrus company had paid Cruller for the softener and that Harris and Stunston already had filed a claim in the bankruptcy court to collect the amount due them on the article.

LET'S GO SHOPPING

Betty Ann

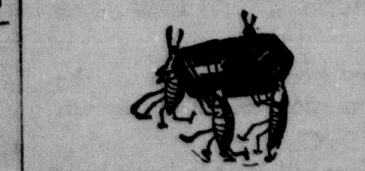

MAIN SERVICE GARAGE, 614 N. Main—Known all over the Southland for that 100% Lubrication job, and probably equally well known for its signal to the coastward bound traffic. "We NEVER Close." And the thing that makes this so important to the traveler, or to the home folks who want to stay up late, or get up early, is that this is a complete unit, where you can get, pump, service, washing, polishing, greasing, complete repairing, everything the automobile needs, under one roof.

UTT JUICE COMPANY, Tustin—Have YOU tried the QUEEN ISABELLA Tomato Juice for bouillon and cocktail? We are constantly hearing this question asked with enthusiasm that never lags. "She" has discovered that there is no better food, or no more convenient addition to the meal than Queen Isabella tomato juice. In the dozen or more ways it can be used. One lady, glowing with the to her new discovery, declared it just saved her face in a new cocktail for a dinner she was giving. But tomato juice is not allowed to take all honors, for QUEEN ISABELLA Pure Fruit Berry Punch comes in for its share of enthusiastic praise from these wise heads of the pantry, as does also Queen Isabella Grape Juice. REMEMBER you can buy Queen Isabella products at all leading grocery stores. INSIST upon QUEEN ISABELLA brand.

THE SUGAR BOWL, 310 N. Main—At Fox West Coast Theatre—Why rush home before the shopping is finished just because it happens to be near noon? The Sugar Bowl is handy to all the downtown shops, and you'll find yourself greatly refreshed with one of those Big Double Malts, just 15c, that Mr. Garlick makes from his own special recipe; and a hot toasted sandwich added, gives you an appetizing and wholesome meal; or perhaps a bowl of chili. If you like pie, The Sugar Bowl has the best ever. Also, full line of home made candies.

MITCHELL & SON, SEED FEED STORE, 314 E. Third—Better not wait until the hen house gets squirmy with mites, lice, fleas, etc. Ask Mitchell about Dr. Hess's Dip. It is an excellent disinfectant for the chicken coop, as it positively kills these tiniest of pests, mites and lice, and other insects. Disinfect NOW with Dr. Hess's Dip. You buy it at MITCHELL'S.

TURNER'S FLIKIL, All Grocery, Hardware, Drug Stores. Here's the easiest and most efficient way to clean that aggravating bath tub. No water, mind you, just spray the inside of the tub thoroughly with FLIKIL and then polish it with a dry cloth. The results are amazingly superior to any kind of scrubbing, and the amount of energy expended is negligible. Apply the same method of treatment to the kitchen sink and lavatory. And don't forget to spray your closets RIGHT NOW to avoid moth. Never worry, FLIKIL can be sprayed against the most delicate colors and the faintest of materials without the least bit of damage. Also, be sure to keep FLIKIL sprayed about drain pipes and such places and you will have no reason to complain of roaches or mosquitoes.

CHARIS OF ORANGE COUNTY, 410 1/2 W. Fourth—Despite its effectiveness, CHARIS is amazingly light and dainty. Its unique construction assures adequate support without heavy boning or perishable elastic. It may be laundered frequently without injury. Shoulder straps are detachable with a choice of three colors. Buy a CHARIS at Suite 101, 410 1/2 W. Fourth St. Phone 467.

THE SOUTHERN INN, Main at La Veta, between Orange and Santa Ana — PHONE 1177, between 11:30 and 2, and 5 to 9, any day excepting Mondays, when you're feeling like real old-fashioned FRIED chicken. These "Chicken Dinners Deluxe" at the Southern Inn are like a page torn from the days gone by of your childhood when "taste" was the paramount issue in food, before calories elbowed it to the background. When the uninitiated ask "Where do we eat?" there is always an eager chorus: "The Southern Inn, where they have that delicious Old Fashioned Fried Chicken and Home Baked Pies."

LAMEROS SHINING PARLOR, Opp. KRESS Store, Phone 2818-J. Shoes must match or harmonize with the costume. This is the day of ensemble. LAMEROS solves this problem for you, quickly, economically, and infinitely satisfactorily. All you have to do is give him the shade you want to match, or choose from his chart of 96 different colors, and presto! those old discarded, soiled, crepe, moire, leather, or whatnot, are handed to you in the delicate lovely shades of your new costume. A miracle! you will say, as have many others. LAMEROS uses a spray, so that the color goes on evenly and without any smudging.

MORRIS, The Florist, 615 N. Main—Those "Blushing Bride" roses tell us the wedding season is here, in all its excited flurry and worry and last-minute agonizing over the decorations. Give your order to MORRIS and the problem of flowers for the wedding is no longer a problem at all, for you're sure to get WHAT you want, WHEN you want it. The shop at 615 N. Main is a fairland of delicate shades and deeper shadows that make up a brilliant rainbow of colors. The gorgeous Delphinium or the more delicate Forget-me-nots will supply the bride with "something blue."

HAPPY DAY SHOP, ARCADE BLDG., 515 N. Main—Cool, Charming, Colorful, is the way one invariably feels about those new lace volles in green, beige, rose, etc., for the junior miss, at the Happy Day, and they're only $5.95. That ensemble of plain green jacket with dress design called "Lady-in-the-Mirror," also catches the eye. Roshanara crepe 2-pc. suits always desirable. New Swiss dots, volles and Normandie prints, dainty and airy for the little miss.

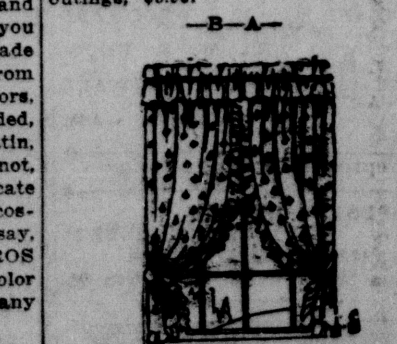

GREEN GABLES FROCK SHOP, 2115 N. Main—"Something New" is something blue this time. It is this ever New that makes shopping at Green Gables a delightful thrill. New York's latest style edict is sober. Apparently Dame Fashion can't shake off the late depression. Navy blue with Algerian trim in a long dark coat over lighter silk one-piece, and cocoonat brown, bolero or short jacket style with lighter blouse are two of the smartest models now at Green Gables. In the light things: Inexpensive chiffons of lovely floral designs, $10.75. For larger women, beautiful prints in crepe romaine. Gay little sleeveless sports sweaters with white skirts for "daughter's" outings, $5.95.

MARSHALL DRAPERY CO., 230 Santora Bldg., Broadway at 2nd—This is plainly a bargain, though ruffled. MARSHALL has 75 to 80 pairs of ready-made, triple-ruffle, sun-fast washable curtains, in French Marquisette, plain background with ruffles in blue, orchid, gold, rose, etc., offering right now for $2.00 the pair. The curtains are 2 1/2 yds. long, and are really quite attractive, and unquestionably this is a bargain not to be picked up every day. A chance to re-curtain that mountain camp or beach house, at so little expense you'll never miss it.

HEALTH CAMP CHILDREN ARE ENTERTAINED WITH MOTION PICTURES ON FRIDAY EVENING

(Note: Through the courtesy of the Santa Ana Register, the Orange County Health camp is publishing a column containing a brief resume of the week's happenings at camp. We feel sure the items will be of interest to you, as the Orange County Health camp is your camp striving to carry out our slogan, "Make Orange County the Healthiest as well as the Wealthiest," and that you care about knowing of its progress. This column will appear each week.)

By ARLIN PERKINS

I. We certainly enjoyed our movie last Friday evening. We were entertained by quite a number of comedies and an educational picture. Mr. Robinson also started the feature picture, "Simba," which we find very interesting. He also stated that next Friday evening he would bring a western picture, after which Dr. Kaps would check the reaction and if no damage is done we will continue to have them. He will also continue "Simba."

II. Saturday afternoon through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Oertly and the Lions club of Garden Grove, we visited Madame Modjeska's Home. We had a delightful time looking at the animals which we all thought were very interesting. Those from Garden Grove who made the children's trip possible were Mr. and Mrs. S.

Bowles each received live rabbits for Easter. There certainly were a great many Easter novelties presented the children over the week end. Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, "Mother" Meagher and Mrs. Smith brought up some beautiful Easter offerings presented by Mrs. James Irvine Jr., for each child. There is a big surprise for us which will be given by Mrs. Irvine as soon as we get enough sun-tan.

IV. We will certainly miss Robert Leyshon who is returning home to Laguna Beach but we hope he will enjoy himself and make a very strong pupil in the school there.

V. Mrs. W. J. Bristol surprised us Sunday morning by having placed on each of our tables in the dining room, a bunny made and dressed up by her.

VI. The "Friendly Indian Boys" were glad to welcome Mr. Tibbals back last Tuesday after his Easter vacation absence. He gave us a very pleasant entertainment.

VII. We are all back in school after our vacation and working hard to make the next grade.

VIII. Our posture exercises have now gotten into our toes. Miss Moore has started a Marble and Foot tournament. We pick up and move marbles with our toes. We are also challenging the person above us in all our exercises. Each person is working for the topmost place.

Says Influx Of Needy of Other States Must Stop

Declaring that a heavy burden was placed on the welfare work of the county by people who come to California in the expectation of being taken care of and given work, W. S. Gregg, head of the welfare department, asked that the board of supervisors take some steps to relieve the situation. The request was made at the regular session of the board yesterday.

Gregg stated he believed the state of California did too much advertising of the ideal climate and labor situation in the state and the idea that California was able to take care of any who came here was firmly implanted in the minds of people from eastern states.

Gregg made a report on the activities of the department for the month of March, saying he had received applications from 705 men for work, and was able to furnish work to only 176. He asked that the board begin some new road improvement problems so more men could be given work.

He made the statement that in the future he intends to give work to only those people who were established residents of the county and in this manner perhaps the situation could be helped.

BROTHERHOOD OF FULLERTON ELECTS

FULLERTON, April 8.—W. J. Carmichael was elected president of the Federated Church brotherhood of Fullerton at a meeting Monday night in the First Baptist church. He succeeds Alex Walker, president for the past year.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting last night included S. W. Windle, vice president; J. F. Hayes, re-elected secretary and E. B. Bolander, re-elected treasurer.

A resolution asking for membership in the state organization of Church brotherhood was adopted.

A petition for the annual meeting of the state organization in May 1932 was also sent to the state body.

The John Brown evangelistic meetings starting in Fullerton were unanimously endorsed and members were urged to give their fullest cooperation in the revival campaign.

Musical numbers were furnished by a quartet from the Riverside organization, Stanley Berke, of Fullerton, led in community singing.

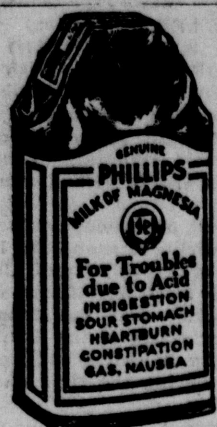

3 Generations Of Family Take First Air Trip Together

A grandmother, a grand daughter and a great-grand daughter experienced the thrill of their first airplane flight yesterday at Martin's airport, where Pilot Jackson initiated them into the ways of man's most modern mode of transportation with his most professional finesse.

The grandmother is Mrs. Maria Barker, 619 Avenue C, Brooklyn, N. Y., and she is 88 years old. The grand daughter is Mrs. Warren Hodges and the great-grand daughter is Miss Louise Hodges.

These representatives of three generations of a family were taken through the air lanes from which could be viewed most of the rare beauties of all Orange county in the course of a very few minutes.

Too much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine, prescribed by doctors for conditions due to excess acid. It is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips' and the word genuine in red.

To the Voters of Santa Ana:

We have been discussing taxes and have shown you that your tax rate has been decreased. We have presented to you the work of the Water Department, and have shown you the decrease in cost of that department. We have presented to you the fact that there has been a substantial reduction in the rate for insurance, and have cited to you the conditions which your trustees created to make that reduction in insurance rates possible.

But we hear some of you say, and we do not blame any of you for saying it: "That's all right; our tax rate we guess has been reduced. You have conducted the Water Works well. You have so conducted the affairs so as to reduce our insurance rate. That isn't the most serious thing with us,—what we are complaining of is our special assessments for street improvements."

We admit that the special assessments have been made, of course, wherever the improvements have been made, and we do not attempt for a moment to maintain that we are positively sure in every case that the assessments were wise or justified. If we could be sure in every case, we would be wiser than any other man who is living. Seriously, however, no one can be sure. We didn't even initiate these special assessments. They do not help our city exchequer or hinder it particularly.

These special assessments are initiated by the people living in the special assessment district, who personally, because of property interests in such a district, feel the need of lights or paving, and believe it is to the best interest of such district to have such pavement or lights. They proceed, as a rule, to obtain signers to a petition to make this improvement, and present it to the trustees.

Your trustees listen as a court, so to speak, to these petitioners, and decide according to our judgment, which is only human. We do not now recall of a solitary instance, with the exception of newly annexed territory, which presents a condition out of the ordinary, and the one case of the Santa Ana Boulevard, where we have not been governed in our activities or decision by petitions containing a majority of the residents or the resident owners of property.

We do not now recall of a case of where a majority has protested against any improvement that we went on with the improvement against their wishes,—in some cases where there was a protest of less than 50 per cent, we honored it as if it were a majority.

What has been the consequence of our four years' service then under these special assessments? May we say that the total amount of street improvements from 1922 to date, including the Santa Ana Boulevard, amounted to a total of$4,794,320.78

The total amount of street improvements, however, from the date of 1922 up to the date of the beginning of this last term of office four years ago for us, was$3,285,622.23

In the last four years, therefore, during our term of office, we have completed improvements of the difference between the total amount from 1922 to date and the amount from 1922 up to four years ago, which is$1,508,698.55

That is the total amount of improvements for the entire four years.

The total amount of outstanding bonds against the city for these assessments to date is$1,832,090.54

But the total amount four years ago against property was$1,578,803.21

In other words, the increase in outstanding bonds for the four years of our incumbency has been$253,287.33

And remember that this includes the cost of the famous Santa Ana Boulevard, which had we not built, we frankly say to you would have actually reduced the total outstanding bonds below what they were four years ago by $100,000.

We ask you frankly to be fair-minded and good enough sports to recognize the validity of our claim as good business agents in the face of these facts, regardless of whether you may have agreed with us in the need and value of that particular boulevard. What we are trying to insist is that regardless of your opinion or ours upon that boulevard, we have conducted your business in a business-like manner, having been as careful as any group of men could be in special assessments, and have kept them down, here in these years of momentum gained by all the years of prosperity to about as low a point as it would be possible to do.

Compare our activities in this respect with the trustees of any other city anywhere, and we believe that you would cease to criticize and turn to praise. There are those who in every special assessment are terribly handicapped. The limitations on their income and their own needs make any improvement almost a calamity. Frankly, it is unfortunate that the wishes of those people sometimes cannot be considered in the general good. The only thing that we ask you to consider, if you are one of them, is to realize that no group of men sitting in a city council could protect you from increase, regardless of what they may say, because improvements are inevitable in a growing city.

WHITMAN MAY PAIR WINNERS OF TOP BOUTS

Matchmaker Benny Whitman plans to pair the winners of his two main events at the Orange County Athletic club tomorrow night, he announced today.

"Wild Man" Macias and Frankie Stevens meet in one of the wind-ups while the other brackets those two old rivals, Zemaio Chavez and Indian Jimmie Rivers. Whitman said he had made arrangements to match the two winners for an early 10-round meeting. Thursday's bouts are eight-rounders.

The Macias-Stevens and Chavez-Rivers principals completed their training work today with only Rivers working out here. Macias is a prohibitive favorite over Stevens but the odds are even on Chavez and Rivers who have both improved tremendously since they first met here two years ago and Chavez took down a much disputed decision.

Tomorrow's main events are bolstered by three preliminaries: Wally Fraser vs. Columbus Evans, light heavyweight; Bobby O'Hara vs. Eddie Lozano, welter, and Tony Moreno vs. Herman Placentia, bantams.

ATHLETIC MOUNDMEN ALARM MACK

Ingram May Quit Complex Grid Maneuvers

BEAR COACH TO 'SHAKE BUSHES' FOR MATERIAL

BY VINCENT MAHONEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
BERKELEY, April 8.—"California Bill" Ingram, pretender to a lofty throne, looked ahead today and saw a great many cracked heads between him and coronation.

The newest member of the Pacific Coast lodge of transplanted eastern and midwestern football coaches has reached the halfway mark in spring training and paused to survey the ground he has covered. He has found out, he said: That he has undertaken a large job.

That, so far as a football system is concerned, at this writing he has neither fish nor fowl. That California's golden day is near.

That the Pacific Coast football loop is going to furnish some very tough football in the next five years.

Will "Shake Bushes"

Ingram is frankly worried about the size of his squad. Out of a student body containing 2000 or more males, he thinks, he should get more material.

Looking toward the future, he has concerned himself more with "shaking the bushes" for holdouts than with driving the faithful few. If Ingram keeps up his missionary work, the campus will see a sight unprecedented since the days of Andy Smith's "Wonder Teams," a squad of 200 to 300 in September, he believes.

There is little chance of California playing Ingram's kind of game next fall. To the considerable difficulty of teaching neophytes is added the mountainous task of unteaching several dozen seasoned performers who learned the system taught by "Nite" Price, whom Ingram succeeded.

Expecta Plenty of Trouble

"I'll have to decide within the next few weeks," Ingram said, "whether to abandon for a year some of the more complex maneuvers of my so-called 'system.' Its abandonment may be necessary on the theory that, what with the learning and unlearning necessary, the team would not be able to assimilate it in time. If I stuck by my system and kicked good-bye to several early season games, I believe we'd hit a late season peak that would give Stanford plenty of trouble."

"I'm going to have plenty of trouble, particularly about this year," make no mistake about that. Anyone that plays Howard Jones, "Pop" Warner, "Slip" Madigan and Jimmy Phelan in one season has trouble.

"However, if California isn't heard from in the next few years, charge it to me. There is a great deal in favor of California's ascendancy; few things against it. In some schools it is actually impossible to maintain championship standards; it should be impossible to keep California down."

Ruiz Defeated In Scrap At Olympic

Joe Ruiz, Santa Ana welterweight, had a lot of luck at the Olympic last night—but it was all bad. After decisively defeating Al Wolgast, brother of the former lightweight champion, Ruiz saw Referee Bob White raise Wolgast's hand in token of victory.

O'Hannigan, another local fighter, beat Manuel Davis but the decision, like that to Wolgast, was unpopular.

Johnson's Will Is Filed For Probate

CHICAGO, April 8.—The will of Ben Johnson, late American league president, the amount of whose estate was estimated at more than $250,000, will be filed here today in probate court. A large part of the estate was left to Marietta college, Johnson's alma mater.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS

FULLERTON IS 10-3 WINNER OVER DON NINE

Bringing a bat-bag full of heavy clubs to Poly field, the Fullerton junior college baseball team trounced Coach Clyde Cook's Santa Ana Dons in a practice game yesterday afternoon by a 10 to 3 score.

"Bono" Koral, Cook's regular moundman, was taken suddenly ill just before game-time so Wilton Hillard pitched the game with the exception of the last inning when Koral recovered sufficiently to go to the ridge. Hillard allowed only eight hits but his teammates were limited to five scattered singles by Carpenter, Fullerton's lanky chucker.

The Dons started off in great style, scoring twice in the first inning and again in the second but after that, Carpenter held them under his thumb. Sullivan walked and came all the way home when Melvin Beatty dropped a long homer over the left field fence. Fullerton went to second on an error and scored before Johnson grounded out.

Santa Ana marked again in the second on Andre's walk and Hillard's booming triple to deep center.

The Hornets scored on a homer by Carpenter in the second, two more in the third and three in both the fifth and sixth. The tallies in the sixth were the result of five solid hits but the other runs were preventable to a great extent.

Santa Ana swings into conference action Saturday at Compton. It is expected that Koral will be in shape to pitch. The score:

Schuchardt Makes Good At El Paso

Orville Schuchardt has made good at El Paso.

The fleet Santa Ana outfielder was in the lineup yesterday when the Texas team started its Arizona-Texas league season with a 4-3 victory over Tucson.

Schuchardt is playing left field, fielding brilliantly and hitting well, according to reports received here.

Willard Hersberger, Fullerton boy, is catching for El Paso this season. Hersberger played second base last year.

TUSTIN WINS FROM ORANGE NINE, 10-7

Tustin high school opened its baseball season with a 10-7 practice game victory over Orange yesterday. Orange county high schools are playing the night ball variety this season, but their regular league schedule will not begin until April 17. Both sides employed many substitutes. The score:

FOOTMEN HIT HARD TO BEAT BREA, 12 TO 7

Santa Ana high school didn't need its "Big Four"—Blower, Bell, Daneri and Kidder—to give Brea-Olinda baseball paddling yesterday. Coach Bill Foote used a makeshift lineup against the Wildcats and won with comparative ease, 12 to 7. The game was played at Brea.

In the absence of Blower and Kidder, first string pitchers, the Saint coach took a chance on Outfielders Lloyd Kneeland and "Babe" Gordon and they did well enough under the circumstances. Kneeland allowed the Wildcats only one run in the first five frames but exploded in the sixth and Gordon had to go in and quell the belated uprising.

None of Brea-Olinda's four pitchers, Bennett, Yorba, Long and Ortega, proved effective. The Saints got three in the third on hits by Gordon, Kneeland, Conrad and Wintersteen and Daley's pass. Halderman's walk, singles by Gordon and Kneeland, a triple by Conrad and a wild pitch gave Santa Ana four off Long in the fourth. Errors and walks paved the way for two more off Yorba in the fifth. Conrad's homer with Gordon and Kneeland aboard produced three more in the seventh, Ortega being the victim.

Conrad, second sacker, and Kneeland did most of the Saint damage. Conrad hit a homer, two triples and a single in five chances while Kneeland contributed four singles.

S. A. TRACKMEN LOSE TO BEACH SCHOOL, 68-44

Without so much as calling on the eight "big shots" expected to win the Coast League, Southern California and state championship later this spring, Long Beach Poly's powerful track squad defeated Santa Ana high school, 68-44, 2-3 to 4-1, here yesterday. The Saints did better in the class B and C meets, but dropped both, 54-40 and 39-38, respectively.

Norman Barker, Long Beach coach, did not employ Rathbun, Culp, Crow, Algiers, Leevers, Calvin, Graham and Scharrin. With this remarkable array of talent, plus the athletes he used here, Coach Barker apparently has a right to believe this is Long Beach's year on the cinderpath.

With only Barker's "second string" in motion, marks were only average, although Jim Daneri, Santa Ana's iron man, bettered his own school record in the discus by four inches. Daneri's toss of 121 feet, 7 inches, did not net the Saints a first place, however, because Parks of Long Beach out-throwed a throw that taped 126 feet, 6 inches. "Benny" Lutz of the Saints hit his best distance of the year, 117 feet, to hook a third place.

Daneri won the 220 yard low hurdles with ten yards to spare in 25.9 seconds and also took the shot with a shove of 45 feet, 3 inches.

The high jump, expected to yield the day's excitement in that it was scheduled to pair Paul Jacques, Santa Ana's brilliant undefeated captain, and two crack Jackrabbit jumpers, Collier and Moan, proved just another event when Jacques' entry was scratched. Jacques has been suffering from an old football knee injury and may do no more jumping until the Chaffey meet Saturday week.

The best Saint performances were turned in by Ray Cartwright, Coach Patton's little half-miler, and "Toy" Blower, the lusty vaulter who is winning four letters this school year. Cartwright ran away from his field in the 880, hitting the finish line in 2:07. Blower cleared 11 feet, 6 inches, barely missed at 11:9.

Santa Ana completes its 1931 dual meet schedule at Fullerton tomorrow. The Indians do not have much in the way of material outside of Joe Darraco, giant weightman, who puts the shot close to 50 feet; Walt Raitt, a fair sprinter, and McCormick, a 55-second quarter-miler, so the Saints are heavily favored to win. The Saint-Long Beach results:

Stars Drill Tonight For Friday Fray

Tuning up for their first important engagement of the exhibition season, a date with Colton's formidable Reds at Colton Friday, George Lackaye's Santa Ana Stars go through a strenuous inter-team workout at the Bowl tonight. The practice will be limited, however, to batting and fielding work as no regular game is scheduled. The Stars will play two big games at home next week—with Riverside Monday and Colton Wednesday.

An interesting practice game is scheduled tonight at Olive between the Packers and Pomona, one of the strongest inland aggregations. Olive beat Pomona, 8-7, last week.

Anaheim travels to Riverside tonight but plays at home with San Bernardino Friday. Anaheim lost to Colton Monday, 8-6, Venn Botts holding the Valencias to six hits. Shaddux's two homers beat Anaheim.

DONS FORFEIT DUAL TRACK MEET TO L. A.

Realizing that several of his star trackmen were scheduled to play in the baseball game with Fullerton yesterday and knowing that his handful of Don tracksters were no match for the powerful Los Angeles team, Coach Bill Cook forfeited Santa Ana junior college's conference dual track meet with the Cubs.

The Santa Anans will end their drab dual meet season Friday at Fullerton and expect to defeat the Yellowjackets if all the Dons report. Coach Cook is hoping that Don Dresser, star hurdler will be in shape and that Bob Durbin, the only two-miler on the squad, will get back into the harness and condition himself to run the eight-lap grind and possibly the quarter. Neither Fullerton or Santa Ana has won a conference meet but comparative scores favor the Dons.

Fans Boo As Baer Stops Ernie Owens

PORTLAND, Ore., April 8.—Raucous raspberry horns mingled with boos at the auditorium here last night as "California" Max Baer beat "Easy" Ernie Owens of Los Angeles in the second round of a scheduled 10-round main event bout.

Owens either was frightened or was party of the second part in what many fans thought was just another built-up fight for Baer.

Mayor Orders Enforcement Of Parking Ordinance

COUNCIL GETS PETITION FROM BUSINESS MEN

ORANGE, April 8.—Enforcement of the two-hour parking ordinance passed here March 4, 1924, was ordered by Mayor W. E. Clement at a meeting of the city council yesterday when a petition signed by 85 business men was presented.

The petition asked for the enforcement of the parking ordinance and the provision for 20-minute parking stalls in each block of the zone covered by the ordinance. The parking zone created by the ordinance, which has never been enforced, extends from the Santa Fe tracks along Chapman avenue and one block north and south of the plaza square on Glassell street.

Free parking places offer spaces for cars of those who drive down town in the morning to remain all day, it was pointed out. These parking places are located on the grounds of the old St. John's Lutheran school on Olive street, the lots adjacent to the California Electric company, the King Wheel works and the Orange theater parking lot.

The ordinance will be enforced beginning April 11. Chief of Police Richards was instructed to carry out the orders of the mayor and the head of police committee, L. H. Intorf.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council on March 25, when a committee headed by E. H. Smith and including F. L. McElfresh, president of the merchants' association and O. E. Gunther, asked for the enforcement of the ordinance. They presented a petition at that time but were instructed to secure additional names.

No action was taken on the elimination of "U" turning at certain intersections asked by the committee at their previous appearance.

RAISE LICENSE FEE FOR ELECTRICIANS

ORANGE, April 8.—J. J. Hutchins of the Orange Electrical Service company and R. E. Arnold of the California Electrical company asked to be placed in the class of plumbers under the building code of the city, at the council meeting yesterday. The men had been present at a previous meeting and asked to have the license fee for electricians raised from $5 a quarter to $50 a year, the fee required of plumbers.

Several members of the council said that they had been approached by a number of persons regarding the proposed raising of the license and that these persons had felt it would build a fence around the town.

The electricians convinced council members that the raise would not affect electricians who worked by the day. A compromise was reached whereby the council agreed that a fee of $25 a year in advance and a bond would be fair, and it was said that the required steps to bring this about would be taken.

"I've flown with the Pathfinders of the Air

—says Chesterfield

yet you meet me in the city's crowded canyons"

Along the invisible lanes of the air, or among jostling thousands in the city's streets . . . it's all the same to Chesterfield. For here's a cigarette that goes everywhere, and that tastes right anywhere. Milder and better tobaccos—nothing else—that's what you taste in Chesterfield. And, thanks to the "cross-blend," all of that mild, good taste and aroma is retained!

They Satisfy—that's Why!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

You Type Right on the Right Type of a Typewriter!

And the right type of a typewriter to typewrite on is an L. C. SMITH! The greatest satisfaction to the typist. A joy to the owner.

There are lots of reasons. Among them are: the absence of clackity-clacking noise; the ball-bearing type bars that move with easy precision and response to the lightest touch; and the fact that they're NON-STICKABLE! The type bars on an L. C. Smith DO NOT STICK, no matter how you hit them. The saving of energy alone in muttering to yourself (more or less) is an item!

MARCH REPORT ON CHILDREN'S CARE PLEASING

The month of March has been a satisfactory month from viewpoint of discipline, rest periods, and clean plate reports. Discipline problems have been of minor sort and adequately handled by staff members in charge of children at times of occurrence. Camp morale has been satisfactory.

A slight change has been made in our daily program in which to allow time for special exercises which are taught by Miss Maud Moore, physical education director of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Moore's work is splendid. The children are interested and we are incorporating her lessons into our physical classes. The staff as well as the children have been receiving the instruction.

Another item of utmost importance has been inaugurated into our schedule and that has been the sunbaths which have been carefully directed by Doctor Kaps, medical director. We find the little difficulty in this line as the children are very anxious to acquire a sun tan especially since "Mother Meagher" is giving prizes for the best tan.

Doctor Kaps has ordered the abandoning of hikes till after the poison oak has disappeared, this being the best season to become exposed to the plant.

Our recreation hall is about to be completed and we are all looking forward to our new quarters for play periods from 6 to 7 p.m.

Arlin Perkins has been more than successful with his weekly news article as many people are commenting on it. This article is submitted to the executive office for an OK before going to the press.

Needless to say the children have vastly enjoyed our movies, courtesy of Local No. 504, I. A. T. S. E. We have been particularly fortunate in our entertainment from outside of camp and surely feel the Y. M. C. A., A. H. Tibbals, director, with the organization of the "Friendly Indian Club" for the Health Camp boys; and the Y. W. C. A., Miss Nancy Elder and Miss Dorothy Cartwright, directors, with the one hour weekly given to various types of project work and entertainment, are doing a fine piece of work with our children.

All necessary repairs of camp buildings have been taken care of by Mr. Paris. Two windows have been broken accidentally, one during a wind storm and the other by a child. Mr. Irwin of the park has been more than generous with us in allowing Mr. Paris to use the team of horses to cultivate the orchard and in cleaning the grounds of rubbish.

Staff members have all had good reports in regards to their specified duties; and the regular staff meeting which has been set for the fourth Friday of each month by executive office will allow each member to bring up any difficulties which may be straightened up with the aid of Mrs. Meagher, executive secretary, and Doctor Kaps, camp medical director. Following is a typical month's program at the Health Camp:

Number children enrolled, 3; number children cared for, 34; total days spent in residence, 999; average enrollment for month, 32; number children gaining weight, 22; number children losing weight, 6; total pounds gained, 73; total pounds lost, 22; average gain per child, 2.2.

Clinics held twice daily by assistant nurse: one first aid fracture, 2 cases poison oak, one treated for cold. Remainder routine clinic treatment. Illnesses: 2 digestive upsets. Abnormal temperatures, 21.

Weekly clinics by medical director, four Wednesday morning clinics: 29 children examined, 3 X-rayed, 5 children to county hospital children's clinic, 1 child to orthopaedic clinic, county hospital. Two children required frequent trips to county hospital. Two children still under hospital observation.

Rest periods: 11-12 a.m., 1-2:30 p.m., 5-5:20 p.m. school days. Rest period records have been unusually satisfactory 10-12 a.m., 1-2:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

Squad work: 7:45-8:20 a.m., bed making, cleaning of dormitories, and lavatories; lockers and clothing adjusted at this time. Calisthenics ten minutes, 6:45-6:55 a.m. Posture class work is replacing old system of calisthenics—passive posture work is taught by Miss Moore.

Toilet and baths: 6-6:30 a.m., morning toilet: 8:20-8:30 a.m., ready for school: 11:55-12:05, cleanup for lunch, 5:20-5:30, cleanup for dinner: 6:50-7:15 p.m., showers are given, under supervision.

Free play: 4-5, passive games are encouraged by supervisors. 6-7 p.m. children may read, do hand work, play sitting games.

Story hour and prayers: 7:15-7:30 p.m., children are read to until lights out, prayers, usually two songs are sung.

THE STORY THIS FAR Theodore Gatlin decided to adopt a baby in a final effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But all his love for their foster daughter could not shelter her childhood from the hatred of his wife, who had never wanted her. Their affairs ended in the divorce court but 10-year-old Penelope was given into the keeping of Mrs. Gatlin, except for two Sunday afternoons a month. On their first day together they set out for a baseball game. A ball, joyfully to a baseball game, struck Penelope on the nose and the neurotic Mrs. Gatlin, who had become a follower of an evangelistic faith, removed her from the hospital to which her former husband had hurried her. Mrs. Gatlin, who had been a nurse, was tired from business, and he would find her. He was tired from business, and he would find her. He was tired from business, and he would find her.

Some ten years later, in San Francisco, rising young psychiatrist, Stephen Burt, was presented with a new patient—a girl, a girl with a dual personality. Now she was about to be committed to a mental hospital. Dan McNamara, a police officer, did not believe in the girl's insanity. He believed she was a responsible criminal and begged Burt's expert testimony in court.

INSTANT 3

"Meet my friend, Dr. Stephen Burt, Nance," Dan McNamara introduced her airily. "Doc, this is Nance Belden, alias Dorothy Case, alias Fay Barham, alias Elizabeth Vernon."

Stephen said politely that he was delighted to make her acquaintance, and Nance replied with acid directness, "Why?" Whereat Stephen Burt laughed and set a chair for her. Nance plumped herself down in it with a weary sigh, jerked off her jaunty hat and threw it on Stephen's desk. "All right, Steve. Shoot! What's the idea of the big convention? Another fishing expedition?"

"Now, Nance," Dan McNamara soothed her, "you cut that out. You're not talking to Doc. Belden. Doc Burt's a gentleman."

Nance remembered her manners. "My error," she apologized. From the doorway leading into the waiting-room, Lanny gazed upon the girl with frank disapproval. Over Nance's shoulder she caught Stephen's eye and shook her head sorrowfully.

"The old girl's shocked!" Nance laughed softly without looking around, while Lanny disappeared.

"How do you know, Miss Belden?" Stephen inquired.

"Mirror," and Nance Belden pointed.

"Close your eyes," Stephen commanded, "and describe this room to me."

"All right. There are two empty high-ball glasses on the telephone stand back of you," she sniffed. "Bourbon. The stand's three feet high and the telephone book is in the compartment under the top of the stand. The telephone is one of those combination receiver-mouthpiece things like they use in English stage scenes, and the telephone cord is white. The desk is solid walnut, I think, flat-topped and clean. You have a bronze combination ink-well, pen-rack, and pin-tray. There is a blue crayon pencil and a red crayon pencil and a black, goldbanded fountain pen on the pen rack. The fountain pen has green ink in it."

"I know because on the calendar pad on the desk, which is opened at November 23d—although this is the 24th—you've written something with the pen very recently. You're sitting in a walnut swivel chair, brown leather upholstered, and a high back up to your shoulder tops. The chief's chair is an over-stuffed rocker, and if you give him another drink he'll fall asleep in it. On the wall back of you, there is a framed diploma in Latin, issued to Stephen John Burt by Leland Stanford Junior University Medical School, and about four feet from it is the Oath of Hippocrates in a black frame, like the diploma. The print is old English and done in black and red. Across the room, in back of the chief, is a walnut bookcase, built in detachable tiers, and there's a white wash-stand in the corner close by it. The rug is beige colored and Chinese, and on the wall in back of me, where you can look at it readily, is a framed photograph of your father because he looks a great deal like you. In back of me a door leads into the old lady's den and—here Nance opened her hand-bag, took out a small mirror, held it up and opened her eyes an instant—"yes, I thought so. That door is ajar and the old lady is listening to every word I say."

"Now I'll describe you, You're a darling. You're tall and haven't started to grow a tummy yet. You're about thirty-two or three years old, your hair is dark brown and your eyes dark blue, and you have nice teeth, and they show when you smile. You have nice hands and your nails were manicured this morning, but you have a dirty spot on the finger-nail of your right index finger—no, it isn't dirt. It's iodine. Pardon! My error. Do I win first prize, Doc?"

"In a walk, Miss Belden. You are absolutely the most amazing person I have ever examined. You are one in a million—one of those rare persons who not only see everything at a glance but take a mental photograph of it. And remember it. Yes. Yes, you win a prize."

"I'll have a high-ball with you boys," said Miss Belden composedly.

"You'll not, you little—this and that," Lanny countered from behind the door. "The very idea!"

"Then the party breaks up here and now," Miss Belden informed Stephen.

"Lanny," Stephen called, "I hope you aren't forgetting the laws of hospitality."

"Come on, kid," the girl entreated Lanny. "Buy me one and I'll get the chief to do something nice for you in return."

"What influence has the likes of you with the chief of police?" Lanny was emerging with two high-balls.

"Do you drive a car, Miss Lanning?"

Nance Belden whistled sharply to Dan McNamara.

"Get out your card, Dan. Here's the fountain pen. Write as I dictate. Ready? To all Traffic Officers: The better, Miss Rebecca Lanning, has the freedom of the city. She has my authority to park where she pleases and she shall not be tagged. She cannot be arrested for anything except murder and even then she must not ride in the wagon. Signed: Dan McNamara, Chief of Police."

Dan McNamara obeyed. Nance Belden vised the card, blotted it and handed it to Lanny. "Now, you tell 'em all who's kid, am I not?"

"You bet I'm some kid. Dan knows it and your boss knows it and if, by now, you don't know it, I hope Steve fires you."

"You are some kid, I admit it. Thank you, dear. You shall have a high-ball."

"Have one yourself," Nance suggested grandly. "Let's all be sociable, eh, Steve?"

"Miss Belden—" Stephen began.

"Call me Nance," the strange young creature interrupted. "Why all the formality?"

"Have you any objection, Nance, to telling me your real name?"

"None at all. I don't know my real name."

"Who were your parents?"

"I don't know."

"Why did you steal the silk stockings?"

Nance threw back her head and laughed. "Why you silly, I had runs in every pair I owned."

"Poor dear!" Lanny was speaking. Her hand strayed over the girl's jet black, shiny bob; her fingers sought a shell-like ear and tugged it gently.

Nance looked up at the nurse, surprise and friendliness shining in her eyes.

"Why, you're sweet, aren't you? Why, you darling!" And she lifted her face for Lanny to kiss. Lanny kissed her. Trust Lanny for that. "It's too late to go further tonight, Dan," Lanny said. "Bring her in at nine tomorrow morning."

"Can't Lanny. With a bound the excellent McNamara had landed beside Lanny in the garden of friendship, as one might say. "She's due in the police court at nine o'clock for sentence. Right away she'll be walked over to the Superior Court to the judge that gave her a suspended sentence two years ago. She hasn't made good, so he'll sign the commitment papers, and it'll be some time before we see our Nancy again."

"Has she an attorney?"

"The public defender, that's all." Lanny looked at Stephen. Stephen looked at Lanny. Both nodded.

"Get the best in town, Dan," Lanny urged the chief. "Dr. Burt will appear in court and plead for a stay of sentence. We'll tell that judge a few things about criminal psychology and just why it would be frightful social injustice to put this girl in San Quentin."

She turned to Nance Belden, drew the girl's face down on her breast and patted the rouged cheek. "See you tomorrow, dearie," she promised. "Be a good girl now and be nice to Dan McNamara, because he's one of the best friends you'll ever have."

"Kiss me again, please," Nance whispered. And when Lanny had complied, the girl came around the desk to Stephen Burt. "I want you to kiss me, too," she said. "You're sweet—thank you a lot."

When Dan McNamara and his prisoner had departed, Lanny and Stephen looked at each other throughout a long silence, which Lanny was first to break.

"That girl's clean, Stevie. Not a touch of the slattern about her. She could pass the Binet intelligence test so fast she's meet it on her way back. And she isn't tough at all. She's only trying to be, and she finds it uphill work."

"Defense mechanism largely," he said.

"Better go home, Lanny," he added. "Get a good night's sleep and try to forget what a sad world we live in."

"It'd be a damned sight sadder if you didn't live in it," she snapped.

Under stress of emotion, Lanny, as she grew older, occasionally indulged herself in a little mild profanity. Stephen didn't mind. He knew she was disillusioned, middle-aged in point of years, but old with the wisdom and sadness of the world, as only a doctor or a trained nurse can be; that she had earned her privileges. As a surgical nurse she had been sworn at by doctors whose nerves grew taut as piano wires, during a dangerous operation, and she had learned to give as good as she received—wherefore the men of her world respected her and liked her, for her courage and efficiency.

"See to it that you're on hand in court tomorrow morning, Stevie, with a sweet line of scientific argument to bewilder the judge and the district attorney," she charged a little later. "Goodnight, my dear boy."

Dear old Lanny! Once more had occurred to her the miracle of love. A stranger—a bit of flotsam and jetsam on the muddy sea of life—had looked behind her brusque, businesslike, belligerent exterior and found the great warm heart that yearned so for affection and understanding. Hers was a strange nature. She was so strong, and so possessed of the urge to share her strength with those she loved, particularly if they evinced any affection for her, that she was singularly democratic in her choice of beneficiary. Nance Belden, like Stephen Burt, had appealed to her thwarted mother love, and nothing that the girl had been, nothing she might ever be, would alter Lanny's opinion, formed on an instant's notice, that the girl was an angel. A dark angel, perchance, and like Lucifer, fallen from high place, but an angel nevertheless.

The presence of Chief of Police Daniel McNamara cleared a lane through the corridor of the Hall of justice, in which the police courts of San Francisco are located.

He paused before a court-room door. "Nance is in there," he told Stephen. "I'll not go in with you. I'd have a week of rotten publicity in all the papers if I appeared to have any special interest in the case. Her lawyer's name is Tyrrell and he'll call you as an expert witness."

Leaders Are Tossing Hoover's Hat Into Ring Early

REPORTS SHOW PRESIDENT IS STILL POPULAR

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(UP)—The movement for the renomination of President Hoover is beginning to take form.

Four prominent Republicans, two of whom are not directly connected with the administration, have announced themselves in favor of entrusting the party banner to the president again.

They are Senator Moses of New Hampshire; W. Kingsland Macy, New York state Republican chairman; James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh, and Postmaster General Walter Brown. They have not only pledged themselves to Mr. Hoover, but some of them also have urged the rank and file of the party to join in.

The airing of their views is being considered here in connection with Brown's return from a personal trip through the south, during which he is understood to have looked over the delegate situation with the next Republican national convention in mind. His reports were encouraging to the Hoover high command.

Mr. Hoover is to undertake a series of eight speeches beginning April 13 and ending June 17, which will review the accomplishments and hopes of his administration as effectively as if he were taking the stump. The variety of audiences he will face permits him the widest range of subjects. Most of the occasions, however, provide no political significance.

The windup of the series affords a trip through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, the states considered vitally important to Republican success.

HORTON TAKES EXCEPTION TO CRANSTON DEF

Dr. Roy S. Horton, member of the school board, and a candidate to succeed himself, today took exception to a statement made by J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools, and printed in The Register last Saturday.

Horton declares Cranston's statement that he was not in accord with the building program of the present board, lacks sincerity and declares the minutes of the board meetings will show that the superintendent was one of the strongest supporters for more and better elementary schools.

Further charges were made by Horton that Cranston has eliminated himself as a candidate only temporarily and will endeavor to have the new board retain him for two more years.

Following is Horton's statement in full:

"I am not going to enter into any controversy with Prof. Cranston over his statement in last Saturday evening's Register, but would like to make as dignified a reply as possible under the circumstances.

"I will make no attempt to answer any of the insinuations against myself or conferees relative to our school building program. I am sure that everyone is acquainted with the fact that we had associated with us as an advisory board, some of the finest and most capable men in the entire city, in whom everyone has the utmost confidence.

Questions Sincerely

"I do want to question the sincerity of Prof. Cranston when he states that he was not in accord with our building program. It is a matter of record on the minutes of our board that he was one of the strongest supporters for more and better elementary schools. It is also a matter of common knowledge that he worked for the passage of the last bond issue. It seems very peculiar that he should wait until this late date to advise the taxpayers of the short comings of the board.

"In a signed statement published in The Register of April 4, under the heading: 'Eliminates Himself as Candidate,' Prof. Cranston said: 'About a year ago I announced my desire to retire from school work.' He also stated that he would not 'allow my name to be used as a candidate to obscure or hide other important issues in this campaign.' Since the publication of this statement (as well as before) Mr. Cranston has stated that his intention is to ask the new board, when elected, to retain him for two more years. Since the only legal term for election of a city school superintendent is for four years, Mr. Cranston promises to present his resignation to the board at the end of two years.

"Mr. Cranston's object is clear. In making his public announcement, his purpose is to eliminate himself as an issue in the campaign (a temporary retirement, so to speak) believing that, by means of false charges he can so antagonize the voting public to the members of the present board of education, who are seeking re-election that these two board members, known to be opposed to retaining him as superintendent, will be defeated.

"This is the real issue in this campaign regardless of attempts to cover it."

PLAY PLANNED BY BUENA PARK GIRLS

BUENA PARK, April 8.—The cast for the play, "The Awful Letter," to be presented in the near future for the benefit of the eighth grade group of the Buena Park Girl Reserves, has been selected and rehearsals are being held. Goldie Smith will portray the part of Margaret, with Ida Mae Hartman as Helen, her best friend; Mildred Hull as Elizabeth Norton, an awkward country girl, and Betty Hatch as Edith Brown. Miss Alberta Maust, leader of the group, will direct the play. A weiner bake will be given by this group of girls at the home of Mrs. Garrison Costar on Melrose avenue Monday evening. Mrs. Costar was in charge of the local Girl Reserves last year.

Stories by Miss Rachel Cheatham, leader of the sixth grade group, featured the meeting this week.

George Bradley, local lawyer, was appointed by President Hume West to represent the Twenty-Thirty club on the directory board of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting of the club held last night in Ketter's cafe. George Raymer, secretary of the chamber, extended an invitation to the club to send a member to the regular meetings of the board of directors after the club had been officially accepted as a member of the chamber of commerce.

Cary Pryor, Walter Smith, and Guy Penn, were initiated into the club as new members last night. President West gave a short speech welcoming them into the club.

Details of organizing a night baseball team from members of the club were discussed at the meeting. The club has for two years won the trophy put up by the combined clubs of Southern California and if they win it this year it will remain in their permanent possession.

Reporting on the progress made by the committee on the clean up week campaign to be sponsored by the club from April 13 to 18, Claude Read, chairman of the committee, stated that arrangements are under way to place large banners across both Main and Fourth streets. Posters are being made by students of the city schools and prizes will be awarded for the best posters. The club will sponsor two radio programs over KREG on Friday and next Tuesday nights at 7:30 p. m.

Car Runs Wild To Destruction, But Driver Is Unhurt

N. J. Hyatt, of 632 East Culver street, Orange, was injured yesterday, when he is reported to have lost control of the automobile he was driving near Shaffer street and East Chapman avenue, the car crashing into a tree, according to Logan Jackson, sheriff.

The machine ran down the sidewalk for some distance, darted across two vacant lots and finally was stopped when it crashed into a palm tree, the sheriff reported. The car was badly damaged, but Hyatt escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

One Jail Term Is Over, Starts On Second At Once

He is now serving a term of 150 days imposed by Judge J. F. Talbott on the possession count, which he can dodge by paying a fine of $300 instead, according to the commitment.

MOVE OF AUTO FIRM INSPIRES SPECIAL SALE

Firmly located in their new store at 202 North Main street, the Western Auto Supply Company today announced a new location sale which will be in effect in that store from Thursday to Saturday of this week.

"That we may show our appreciation of this patronage and as an inducement to others to become acquainted with our 'One low profit' selling policy, we celebrate the occasion of the opening of our new store with a great New Location Sale.

"This sale coming just at the beginning of the touring season is especially timely because it presents a splendid opportunity for motorists to save on accessories needed at this time.

"Our new location gives us better display room and we are equipped to give better service than ever before. In making this selection we have not only made provisions for present requirements but have looked into the future and will be prepared for the necessary expansion that is bound to come with the steady growth of Santa Ana."

CIVITANS URGE BOYS TO HEAR OLD MOUNTIE

In an effort to give the boys of the city who do not have the opportunity to attend many affairs of interest to boys, the Civitans club will entertain a large group of them at a luncheon meeting to be held Thursday noon at Ketter's cafe.

Harry W. Laughy, a member of the Royal Canadian Northwest Mounted police for 20 years, now retired and a writer of western stories for boys' magazines, will deliver a lecture on his experiences in Canada, and will bring with him many Indian relics and pictures of interest to the "old boy" as well as the "young boy."

The club has sent out 125 letters to prominent business men of the city asking them to bring a boy between 11 and 15 years old to the meeting as his guest. The object of the meetings will be to create and inspire in boys a realization of the meaning of good citizenship and law enforcement.

If any of the men who desire to take boys to the meeting have no one in mind he can call J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, Harrison E. White, county scout executive, D. H. Tibbals, secretary of boys' work at the Y. M. C. A., or the Rev. Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Boys who go to school will be excused long enough to attend the meeting, Cranston announced.

WARNER DENIES HE FAVORS A SALARY SLASH

E. G. Warner, candidate for city trustee from the fourth Santa Ana ward, today publicly denied rumors which he said were being circulated to the effect that if he was elected he would endeavor to have the salaries of city employees reduced.

"If this were not such a serious charge it would be amusing in connection with the statement I made in The Register on Monday, March 23, in which I said: 'If Santa Ana expected to get honest and capable men to serve as councilmen they should at least pay them a fair salary.' The pay at present is only $25 per month," Warner said.

Stating that the rumor was absolutely false, Warner continued: "It was a letter carrier in Chicago for 10 years and then was transferred to the clerical department and was appointed acting assistant superintendent of the city free delivery service for the middle western states and although I have been out of the service for a good many years I still am a member, in good standing of the National Association of Letter Carriers."

provided by pupils from Gertrude D. Stebbins' Santa Ana School of Dance and Elocution. Pupils who will entertain are: Kathryn Stockton, Lucille Andrew, and Betty Ellen Mitchell. Marshall B. Craig will play a cornet solo as part of the musical entertainment.

New Recruits

SINCE JANUARY FIRST, Fidelity Savings has issued more than Twenty-Five Hundred new investment certificates... bringing a regiment of recruits to the Fidelity army of savers.

During these first ten days of April, many others are making the same decision... they are placing their funds with this strong, time-tested institution, knowing that its background of forty years of service... its great resources... its experienced management... provide a veritable fortress of safety for their savings.

It is an excellent plan, if you now have larger sums available from April dividends and interest, to invest in one or more Fidelity Full Paid Investment Certificates, issued in units of One Hundred Dollars.

Then, as interest is received, at 6 per cent, on these certificates, you can reinvest it in a 6 per cent Installment Pass Book Certificate, where your interest will be automatically compounded at half-year intervals.

Thus your funds are kept constantly at work... constantly increasing... constantly earning the liberal return of six per cent.

FORTY-FIRST YEAR OF FAITHFUL SERVICE TO INVESTORS

Isn't the band on your hat as important as the band on your cigar?

You do not smoke "any old brand"... you ask for your favorite.

You shouldn't decide on any old or new style... when it is possible to find a favorite in hats, too.

It is our experience that if 25 men give 25 Griffon hats 5 minutes in front of a hat mirror, that 24 of the same men incorporate the name Griffon into their daily lives.

Telephone 466FINAL FLOWER SHOW DETAILS
ARE BEING COMPLETED TODAY

Surrounded by whole gardens of flowers, members of Ebell Flower show decorating committee today were emulating the "busy little bees" although their duties at the clubhouse were far from sipping honey. Rather they were intent upon arranging the blossoms in artistic designs to make the clubhouse attractive for the large crowds expected tomorrow afternoon at the 4 o'clock opening of the annual Ebell Spring Flower show.

Those who remember the unique and backgrounds conceived and wrought by previous decorating committees for the admirable display of blossoms entered in competition by amateur and professional gardeners, are on the qui vive with interest and curiosity as to the committee's plans for this spring's event. But members are maintaining strict secrecy and friendly curiosity must remain unsatisfied until tomorrow afternoon.

Decorating Group
Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen, who has achieved some striking effects for various club functions, is chairman of the committee, and has the aid of Mrs. Philip Hatzfeld, Mrs. Cyrus Lurker, Mrs. Norbert Lentz, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mrs. Carl Newman and Miss Martha Ritchey in working out the plans.

One exhibit that promises to attract much attention is that of California's native wild flowers, collected and displayed by Mrs. Susannah Bixby Bryant of the famous Rancho Santa Ana in Santa Ana canyon. Mrs. Bryant is co-operating with the Ebell women by reserving space for the display, which will be arranged by one of the gardeners whose attention is given to making Rancho Santa Ana a veritable flower preserve.

Evening Programs
With the doors of the clubhouse opened to the public at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, it is expected to have all ribbons and awards in place as the judges will have completed their duties during the afternoon hours. The evening is expected to attract a large crowd not only to see the lavish display, but to enjoy the clever program of music and dances arranged under the direction of Mrs. Robert G. Tutill, Ebell president.

On Friday, the final day, the doors will be open all day, Day Nursery board members will serve a home-cooked lunch menu at noon, and a song and dance recital and style revue will be given in the evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Christian Chums
Special plans by which the Christian church desires to increase the membership of the class from 40 to 75 by May 31, were discussed at Monday night's meeting of the group, held in the home of the president, Cotton Bennett, on Ocean avenue.

The class was divided into three divisions and three captains, Lawrence Taylor, Clifford Haskell and Miles Leonard, appointed by the president. The division securing the most new members will be entertained at a plunge party early in June by the other two groups. The class expects to give a play some night in May in order to raise funds to build a cabin in the mountains.

Late in the evening, Mrs. Edith Minter, aunt of the host, served delicious home made apple pie topped with whipped cream, and orange juice to 29 boys present.

Silver Wedding Day
Happily Observed
On Easter

Brightened by countless bouquets of spring's most glorious flowers, sent by relatives and friends, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bentley J. Harris, 2008 South Ross street, was the scene of Easter Sunday for a gala celebration honoring the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harris. Among gifts received were those from relatives from other parts of the United States who were unable to attend.

While last-minute arrangements were being made by the hostess and those assisting her, children of the group enjoyed an Easter egg hunt in the grassy yard to the rear of the home. At 2 o'clock dinner was served after prayer offered by Lawrence Warner. It was at this time that J. P. Kohler found that he shared honors with Mr. and Mrs. Harris because of his birthday.

Three tables, spread with white linens over which were stretched bands of silver interwoven with maiden hair fern and Cecil Bruner roses, formed the setting for the dinner. Baskets, silver at the hostess table, and white at the other two, were filled with pink and white roses and blue statice. Place-cards were decorated with baby chicks, while favors were tiny silver eggs. A special cake for the bride of 25 years ago was white tiered, topped with lovers' knots and silver bells, while the birthday cake for Mr. Harris was chocolate rimmed in white and decorated in much the same fashion. These were served as a dessert course with mounded ices. To continue in the silver motif, large bells were suspended from over-hanging chandeliers.

Following the dinner, an enjoyable program was given. Three little children, Wilma and Kenneth Calderwood and Martha Jean Smiley, gave Easter readings. Marie McGinnis, accompanied at the piano by Miss Edna Kohler, gave a violin solo. Several songs, among which were "In the Garden" and "The Church in the Wildwood" sung by Mrs. Roy Wilson and Miss Eunice Flattery. William E. Smiley sang "Jerusalem," accompanied by Mrs. Wilson.

All guests present signed their names in a bride's book given to Mrs. Harris for a wedding present. Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Harris, were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kohler, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Smiley and family, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Kohler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kohler and family, Mrs. Elizabeth Kohler, Wayne Shutt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Neiger, Mrs. Lola Stanley, Mrs. Mary McGinnis and family, of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Willis Calderwood and family, of Villa Park; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Roy Wilson; Miss Maude Wright, Miss Eunice Flattery, Mrs. Harriet Flattery and Mrs. Anna C. Wells, of Tustin.

At the close of his informative address, the clubwomen turned their attention to planning for the next meeting on April 21, when in connection with the annual election of officers, a covered dish dinner will be enjoyed in the congregational bungalow at 12:30 o'clock. Each member will be asked to furnish her own table service in addition to one prepared dish, and to pay a small sum towards other expenses. Anything above the expenses will be applied on the purchase of music for the chorus.

As the final feature of the interesting afternoon Miss Sarah Cant, chairman of International relations of the Costa Mesa Woman's club, talked briefly on that subject, emphasizing the need of peace between nations and offering the thought that "Nations should build friendships rather than warships."

During the business session Miss Miriam Samuelson and Miss Betty Maloney reported on the play which they were writing to be given by the junior college on Fiesta day. The members also voted to attend a performance of "Elizabeth the Queen" in Los Angeles next Wednesday night.

The plays of Sophocles will be reviewed at the next meeting by Miss Phyllis O'Connor, Mrs. Ruth McNeil, Miss Betty Maloney and Bill Reinhardt.

Tatters present were Miss Ruth Gardner, chairman; T. H. Gardens Are Discussed
On Woman's Club
Program

Divers matters of general club interest were considered yesterday afternoon by members of Santa Ana Woman's club, in addition to their excellent program on a garden theme, presenting William E. Porter as speaker.

Mrs. H. D. McVain was formally accepted as a new member; Mrs. William A. West and Mrs. A. J. Knight were named as delegates to the state convention in Fresno April 22 to 24; Mrs. James C. Clark and Mrs. J. D. Watkins were named as alternates; several reports were given, and a very informative paper on Easter was read by Mrs. Huntley. Among the reports was that of Mrs. West, who told of her contacts with World war veterans in the hospital at San Fernando, and their grateful appreciation of the Woman's club for its many gifts of candy, fruits, cookies, etc.

Mrs. Huntley's paper was most comprehensive, and went into the history of the great church holiday and what the resurrection of Christ meant to the world. She spoke of the symbols of Easter, pointing out their appropriate qualities, and dwelling upon the benefits which the palm yields to man.

Mrs. W. C. Watkins, Mrs. Ella Webster and Mrs. James Livezey were in charge of the program, and Mrs. Watkins presented Mr. Porter as speaker on "The ABC of Gardening."

As head of the gardening system of the Santa Ana schools, he had a wealth of interesting things to relate to the clubwomen, and gave them much valuable information. He pointed out that the first requirement for a successful garden is the desire for one, but this desire must be followed by intelligent planning for the best results. The importance of proper soils for different plants was stressed, as well as selecting proper soils for seed production. Sun and shade requirements were explained also, and while discussing the nature of soils, he informed the clubwomen that peat was one of the best things to break up a clay soil and that among the flowers, chrysanthemums were unequalled for this purpose.

"Pale tinted plants need nitrogen," he stated, and explained other requirements such as starch, sugar and phosphorus. He explained the presence of moss under trees as nature's means of conserving the moisture for the rootlets and keeping them cool. Sounding a warning against ants, he described their careful "nursing" of the aphid which destroys so many of our plants, and declared that gardeners should work to exterminate all ants.

At the close of his informative address, the clubwomen turned their attention to planning for the next meeting on April 21, when in connection with the annual election of officers, a covered dish dinner will be enjoyed in the congregational bungalow at 12:30 o'clock. Dictates of Fashion
Reviewed at Meeting

Continuing the series of informal talks begun several weeks ago, Miss Ruth Rowland discussed clothes for various occasions at the meeting last night of Wrycende Maegdenu club members of the Y. W. C. A. held in the Y. W. rooms.

In beginning her talk, Miss Rowland read some of the dictates of fashion from a current magazine, telling how this spring's clothes differ from those of last year. She stressed the fact that it is better to be inconspicuously dressed when in doubt as to the correct thing to wear. Correct apparel for morning affairs, and afternoon and evening occasions, both informal and formal, were dwelt upon at length.

Preceding the talk dinner was served, followed by a short discussion of after-dinner classes to be held in the next few weeks.

Wedding Anniversary
Is Celebrated In Happy Fashion

In bidding a little group of friends in for an evening of bridge last night, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allemen of 521 South Parton street, had planned a surprise climax to the evening, by revealing that the party was a celebration of their sixteenth wedding anniversary.

All of Mrs. Allemen's pretty decorations were planned with the happy anniversary in mind, for wedding bells were worked in cleverly with the exquisite yellow roses which she gathered from her garden to beautify her home. But in some manner, her guests had learned the special nature of the date, and turned the tables very neatly by showering their hosts with some lovely crystal as a memento of the occasion.

This surprise feature was a sequel to a lively evening of "African bridge," in which each player was presented with a clever gift wrapped in cellophane and bright-hued ribbons. Winners of each set were privileged to select from their table's assortment of gifts, so by the time the session was closed, each guest proudly displayed some attractive trophy of the evening. To Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hoffman, with the combined high scores, was presented the first of a pretty bridge set of water glasses in silver handled tray. Mr. Allemen surprised his bride of 16 years ago, with the tea pot and casserole to match her handsome coffee service and waffle set, thus completing the set.

Smilax, roses and wedding bells were much in evidence at the mid-night supper hour, when an inviting two-course menu was served at the individual tables with the pretty linens. Sharing the evening and extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Allemen, were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal K. King, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pritchard, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Fleetwood Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Liggett, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mozley and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tibbs.

Bride-Elect of This Month Is Incentive
For Shower

In complimenting Miss Elizabeth Palmer, whose marriage to Don R. Park is to be an event of April 17, Miss Louise Vance entertained recently in her home in Tustin. Bouquets of spring flowers were used to adorn the rooms where bridge was enjoyed as the game of the day.

With the checking of the tallies it was found that Mrs. Lyman Farwell and Mrs. Dale Park held first and second high scores. Miss Palmer was then presented with a large hat-box whose contents proved to be prettily wrapped, miscellaneous gifts instead of the suggested Easter bonnet.

In serving her refreshments, Miss Vance was assisted by her sister, Miss Charlotte Vance, and their mother, Mrs. C. A. Vance.

Guests present, other than the honoree, Miss Palmer, and her mother, Mrs. R. Eleanor Palmer, were the Misses Evelyn Rogers, Charlotte Moulton, Frances Dunden, Juliette Taylor, Stella Swartz, Lois Winslow and Mesdames John Lacy Taylor, Clifford Cole, Dale Park, Lyman Farwell, Charles Crafts, A. O. Park, J. Russell Wilson, and Raymond Harvey.

Miss Palmer was incentive for another delightful shower the past week when she was a guest of Miss Marjorie Watson in Hollywood, and her Delta Zeta sorority sisters of U. C. L. A. were hostesses. She was presented with many miscellaneous gifts.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Russets, Ovens and Teakettles

Today, I am going to play the role of Solomon to a fair lady's questioning. I will answer the questions in the order asked.

(1) Do you know how to cook russet potatoes so that they will not fall apart in cooking? I mean some other way besides baking? How about steaming them? It requires about an hour's cooking. Or, make "Potatoes Anna". To prepare, slice a layer of potatoes into a baking dish, cover with bits of butter, another layer of potatoes and butter, and so on, until the dish is full. Add no liquid, cover and bake until the potatoes are soft, then uncover to brown top.

(2) Can you please tell me how to remove the lime encrusting in aluminum and granite teakettles, and how to keep it out after once cleaned out?

This one would have stumped even Solomon, and I am no Solomon! However, the lime encrustation might be removed by placing the empty kettle over the flame until sizzling hot, then rap the lime encrustation sharply with a hammer and much of it will fall off. A vigorous application of "elbow grease" will do the rest.

(3) In using the oven regulating wheel on a gas range, when I set it at the right temperature for allies and shred the nut meats. Have the jelly ready and cooled. Mix together the cherries, olives and nut meats and fill individual moulds half full, pour over enough of the jelly mixture to fill the cups, and chill for several hours. Unmould on crisp beds of lettuce and serve with a fluffy mayonnaise. Of course, you remember how to make this kind of dressing, don't you? Whip one egg white quite stiff, gradually whip in enough mayonnaise and a little of the cherry juice to make a thin delicious dressing.

Ten individual salads should be the return from this recipe. Each one is worth 145 calories, to this add 100 more for 2 tablespoons of salad dressing and you have the respectable total of 245 energy-makers.

Summer Fruit Cake, the recipe you will find in the current leaflet when you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope for your copy, is the ideal cake to have on hand for dessert purposes. Send for it and try it... you'll be sure to like it!

Poached Salmon with Lemon Cream Sauce will be used for tomorrow's lesson.

SCHOOL HEADS ENDORSE FILM HERE ON FRIDAY

J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools and Ray Adkinson, head of the county schools today issued a bulletin praising "Father's Son," a picture which appears at the West Coast theater Friday only.

The bulletin they issued is as follows: "Every once in a great while some producer shows rare courage and does something entirely out of the beaten path, makes a picture that many would fear to make... not because it isn't splendid entertainment but because it is revolutionary and tacks into the face of a strong gale of precedent and established limitations."

"Father's Son" is such a story. "This picture imparts a lot of the philosophy that should govern father and son relations. I know that every father will be touched deeply by the story and its splendid portrayal by Lewis Stone, Irene Rich, Leon Janney, as the boy, and the other players. I know that every mother will love this mother and this son and will cheer them both and the love that binds them. "For the children, the picture will prove an absolute delight. It is their own story... the story of every boy of today."

"There is no sex in this picture. "In view of the above, I have no hesitancy in heartily endorsing "Father's Son," as a picture for all the family to see."

"It will be shown for one night only, this Friday, April 10, at the Fox West Coast theater on Main street, Santa Ana."

The management of this theater has arranged to admit one child free with each adult purchasing a ticket, in hopes that the real spirit of "Father's Son" will permeate the theater on this occasion."

ANN HARDING LOVELY SCREEN FAVORITE

Not only is Ann Harding, who is starred in Frank Lloyd's Fox Movietone production, "East Lynne," featuring Clive Brook and Conrad Nagel, now at the Fox West Coast theater, the screen's loveliest emotional actress, but she can boast a quality no other leading feminine dramatic player of stage or screen can claim.

Miss Harding definitely proves in "East Lynne" that she has as effective and pleasing a mezzo-soprano voice as she has speaking voice. None other than Richard Fall, famous Viennese composer, who wrote the incidental music for "East Lynne," is responsible for this statement.

In "East Lynne" Miss Harding plays the piano and sings "The You'll Remember Me," the favorite song of Carlyle, her screen husband played by Conrad Nagel.

However, Miss Harding's talents in the music line go beyond singing and playing, for she is also a songwriter. So inspired was she by the role of Isabel that, in collaboration with Albert Hay Malotte, she wrote a ballad dedicated to "East Lynne," the picture.

Let's vote for Frank Besser—city recorder next Monday.—(Adv.)

WALKER'S PRESENTS TWO FILM FEATURES

The double feature program at Walker's State is 100 per cent entertainment. To say that "She Got What She Wanted," is a riot, a scream, a howl, a panic—that it is hilariously, excruciatingly funny—is just using all the superlatives we can think of and giving no idea just what sort of a funny picture it is. But to do that is hopeless! There never was anything like this James Cruze production to compare it with.

"The Woman Racket," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking picture of New York night life, with Tom Moore and Blanche Sweet in the featured roles is said to be the

ROGERS' FILM MAY BREAK RECORDS HERE

Doubt was expressed today by the management of the Fox Broadway theater whether all who wanted to see "The Connecticut Yankee," starring Will Rogers, would have time to view the picture, which closes its four day run here tonight.

Because of the packed house last night, with a long line waiting to get into the second show, indications were to the effect that the house would again be packed tonight.

Undoubtedly the funniest picture that Rogers has ever made, he plays the part of a radio mechanic, who is suddenly (by a blow on the head) sent back to the days of King Arthur and his knights of the Round Table. The experience he has with his modern manners and the wonders he works in the England of the fifth century give him many excuses to keep the audience roaring with laughter.

How he uses Texas methods of winning a tournament, attacks another kingdom in Austin cars and machine guns are just some of the wild ideas that have crept into the picture. Mark Twain, who wrote the original "Connecticut Yankee" could certainly have enjoyed the innovations.

Candidate for Board of Education

In behalf of the business men, tradesmen and citizens as well as the progress of Santa Ana, feel it my duty to express my thoughts, and give the voters of this city my policy in business and political requirements, of a candidate for a post in the city election of April 13, 1931.

"Trade at Home" Slogan

Pause a moment and think—What a gigantic reaction our slogan would have had, had the same consideration been given to our local tradesmen, labor and merchants, as was given to outsiders. Thereby have the financial reaction in our local community.

When employing outside tradesmen—naturally our Slogan had its desired effect, it is bearing fruit as far as the slogan goes—For the out of town tradesmen and labor benefited their own community at our expense. By following our slogan, that we business men and city officials requested—"Trade at Home."

Check over the expenditures of the school building in this city and the large sum of monies for the past few years and how much or what per cent of same has been given to local craftsmen and labor? How then can citizens of this community be expected to spend with local business men what they do not have a chance to earn, when they are forced to leave this community, to seek employment elsewhere? These people are the voters and taxpayers of the community that help defray the expenses of same. How can a citizen as tradesmen or labor work in harmony with the Board of Education or any other civic body, when no consideration is given them? The laws of compensation will react regardless of the manner in which they are sent.

Being an independent candidate, can voice my beliefs without fear or favor, realizing every citizen of this community is a part of the school activities, and have their legal rights, as a citizen of Santa Ana, in the affairs of the Public Schools of this city where their children are being educated.

Realizing with every Title, whatsoever said may be, there are responsibilities, I pledge myself to the voters of this city, if elected, that they may feel free to converse with me regarding their school board or school problems, and I will always be a good listener, and act to the best of my ability insofar as is my legal right so to do. While the problems of the citizens may seem of minor importance to the officials of the Board of Education—They are major conditions and problems to the one involved. I will do all within my power as a Board member to the best interest of the educational projects of this city. Thereby proving myself worthy of the confidence placed in me.

I also feel we owe a debt of gratitude to the outgoing Board members of the Board of Education for their time and services rendered, and to Superintendent Cranston who has given the best of his life to advance the educational field of this city. The Board should be commended in their action of appreciation by making it possible for Superintendent Cranston's retirement, on a reasonable pension. The Board showed their appreciation last year by raising his salary ($800.00) eight hundred dollars, thereby making the Superintendent's pension a lasting appreciation of their confidence in his past work, and feel sure the incoming Superintendent will take up the educational problems which Superintendent Cranston so ably accomplished in his regime, and carry on the educational work of this city to a new field, whereby the coming generations will be educated in the progressive manner, under new thought and leadership.

Sincerely yours,

ESTELLE M. WORKMAN,

Candidate for Board of Education, Santa Ana Schools, Monday, April 13, 1931.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The music had a drum-drum sound and as the Tinies gathered 'round they had a chance to eye the men and instruments as well. Each man seemed serious as could be and played his part quite lustily. Said Copy, "All they need now is just one more man to yell. 'I've never heard such funny strains. They even give my poor ears pain.' 'Oh, you just don't appreciate their talent.' Clowny cried. 'They've trained for years to play like that and not a single note is flat. You couldn't do as well as that, no matter how you tried.' One man had cymbals great to play and, goodness, how he banged away. Each time they came together it would make your poor ears ring. Another tooted on a horn that brought forth deep notes, quite forlorn. He'd puff his cheeks out till he was a funny looking thing. The third had tom-toms which he played with both his hands. He sat and swayed and kept time with the music, though the time was not so good. Soon Copy said, "Let's get away. I've had enough of that today. Despite the crazy sounds, 'pose they've done the best they could." And then they walked down to a stream and shortly Clowny said, "I seem to crave a little boat ride. Will you all wait here on shore? I see a native I will ask if he would mind the little task of taking me out for a ride. That's what his boat is for." The native paddled near at hand. When Clowny made him understand that he would like a little trip, the native said, "Hop in! I'll gladly steer the boat for you and you can do some paddling, too." When Clowny started on the ride it made the Tinies grin. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

H. B. Mayor Quits In Row Over City Engineer

BOWEN WRITES RESIGNATION AT COUNCIL MEET

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 8.—This city is all "het up." The city engineer, Merwin Rosson, resigned, and the mayor, Sam R. Bowen, became provoked, because it was brought out in open meeting late yesterday that the city engineer had agreed three months ago that his resignation would be presented April 1. The mayor wrote out his resignation as mayor, passed it to the city clerk, C. R. Furr, with the comment, "read that," and walked out of the meeting.

The resignation of the city engineer was accepted with the proviso that he would receive a two weeks' vacation and salary to May 1. The resignation of the mayor was not acted upon. There was contention among the five city councilmen as to the resignation of the city engineer. The point at issue was to whether or not the engineer should draw pay to May 1. It was in this discussion that Councilman Conrad announced the engineer had agreed three months ago to resign as of April 1.

Henry Wirth was made street superintendent, a promotion from the job of assistant street superintendent. The assistant city engineer will continue in office for the present.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear to induce Mayor Bowen to reconsider his resignation, and progressive citizens hope to see the political storm blow over. Mayor Bowen's term expires in April, 1932. He is head of the S. R. Bowen company and one of the heaviest realty holders in the city and a bank director. The "blowup" Tuesday afternoon was the first friction to develop in the present council during its three years of administration.

Draws $150 Fine In Anaheim Court

ANAHEIM, April 8.—Arrested on a drunk and driving charge following an accident in which L. J. Murphy, of 731 Watson street, Wilmington, was asserted to have run into a parked car at 313 West Broadway, Murphy was fined $50 on the drunk count and $100 on the driving drunk charge by Judge Frank Tausch in the recorder's court yesterday.

Exhibit Pictures At Mesa April 10

COSTA MESA, April 8.—Costa Mesans will have the privilege of viewing a choice collection of pictures of modern art at the clubhouse all day Friday. The rain-makers' section of the Friday afternoon club is sponsoring this educational work and extends an invitation to all school students of the harbor district.

Committee in charge are Mrs. Sidney A. Davidson, Mrs. Ruth McKenzie and Mrs. E. A. Randall.

City Park For Athletes Considered

NEWPORT BEACH, April 8.—A special committee of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce is studying the possibility of an athletic park, for water and land sports, on city owned land north of the bay, and is expected to bring in a report at an early date. The committee consists of E. I. Moore, Steve Smith, R. L. Patterson and G. C. Macleod.

With San Clemente, Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach and numerous interior cities having good baseball diamonds, the need for one is felt here. Two years ago an eastern ball team could have been secured to do its training here, Macleod says, and with more and more big league clubs planning to come to California instead of Florida, the chances will be still better in the future.

CONDITIONS IN GERMANY TOLD LIONS OF MESA

COSTA MESA, April 8.—Germany of today was vividly contrasted with the Germany of 40 years ago by Dr. Conrad Richter, pioneer resident of Newport Beach in a Lions club talk yesterday. Dr. Richter recently returned from a trip to his native home. According to Dr. Richter, at the present time the German people are proud nation feels his humiliation, and the muscle of the government is dispirited.

Complete Work On Telephone Cable

SAN CLEMENTE, April 8.—Work has been completed on the installation of more than one mile of telephone cable at San Clemente at a cost of approximately $7500. The cable was laid in the alley south of the state highway and westward from the San Clemente central office.

The cable contains from 100 to 400 wires to care for the growth of the Spanish village exchange. Since its establishment on July 30, 1927, the service at the San Clemente exchange has more than doubled and now serves 237 telephones.

ROAD OPENING SUGGESTED AT BOARD SESSION

PLACENTIA, April 8.—A suggestion for diverting traffic from Crowther street to Santa Fe by opening up Santa Fe east from Chapman avenue to Kraemer avenue with a crossing over the Santa Fe tracks at that point was made today night by Andrew Ipsen, councilman and chairman pro tem.

It was suggested that the chamber of commerce was the proper organization to start proceedings, and Ipsen was accordingly appointed to bring the matter before that body, which in turn, will bring it before the Santa Fe railway and other owners of the land in question.

City ordinance No. 39, fixing the time and place of meeting of the city council, was given the second reading and adopted. This ordinance fixes the city offices in the second story of the bank building, and the two connecting offices are now being relocated and fixtures installed for use of the city. It was also voted to hire janitor service for the offices.

Another ordinance fixing the closing hours for pool halls, miniature golf courses and other publicly operated amusement places at 11 p. m. was read by Attorney McCabe, but was considered unsatisfactory by both McCabe and Launer and another ordinance will be drafted.

Attorney Launer spoke of the water problem and also of the proposed building code, and advised the council to investigate the national standard code as arranged by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

A letter from Dr. E. H. Bruner asking for an auto sign at Primrose, which is not a through street, was read, and Street Superintendent Gus Barnes was instructed to find if other residents on Primrose wished such a sign put up.

ANAHEIM COUNCIL AWARDS CONTRACT

ANAHEIM, April 8.—Meeting in special adjourned session, the Anaheim city council last night awarded the paving contract on North East street to Steele Finley, Santa Ana contractor. Finley was the low bidder on the paving with a bid of 10 cents a square foot for the asphalt paving and 35 cents a square yard for the excavating. The street will be paved from Center to the city limits, it is reported.

CIRCULATION OF NEWPORT'S PUBLIC LIBRARY SHOWS BIG INCREASE FOR THREE MONTHS

NEWPORT BEACH, April 8.—The Newport Beach public library has shown a big increase in popularity since the new building was completed and the consequent changes in operation brought about, as shown by figures of book circulation announced today by H. L. Sherman, chairman of the library board.

In keeping with other barometers of growth in this city, the greatest growth of all has been during the first three months of this year. In those three months the circulation increased no less than 100.8 per cent over the corresponding months of 1930, despite the fact that the total of 1930 circulation grew 29.5 per cent over 1929, while the greatest gain in any other year was 20.5 per cent. The biggest library months here, of course, are July and August, although the library, like other activities, shows a trend toward all-year growth. Sherman's figures, which will be presented by Mrs. R. G. Burlingame, another member of the board, in an address at the library convention in Del Monte this month, show the average monthly circulation between 1921 and 1930, the monthly totals for 1929 to 1931, the annual totals and the growth in percentage of non-fiction circulation. The annual figures gives the following remarkable yearly increases: 1921, 11,127; 1922, 12,615; 1923, 12,475; 1924, 13,966; 1925, 17,728; 1926, 18,529; 1927, 20,461; 1928, 24,665; 1929, 27,473; 1930, 35,531.

SAYS CHANGES NEEDED IN WAR ON CRIMINALS

FULLERTON, April 8.—"Journalism and Newspaper Editing" was the subject of an address by Samuel S. McClure, former publisher of McClure's magazine and organizer of the first newspaper syndicate in America, at an assembly of Fullerton union high school and junior college students yesterday morning.

"A newspaperman must be able to get at the bottom of things, when he begins to publish news," McClure said, in telling of his experiences in the newspaper field.

"When I began to publish the McClure's magazine, I realized that I would have to print something different and something that the public would be interested in. For this reason I gathered together a great array of the best talent in the literary field including Rudyard Kipling, James M. Barrison, George Meredith, Robert Lewis Stevenson and Conan Doyle. To secure these writers I had to pay them more for their writings than they had previously received, with the result that I was paying out a huge sum each year for these stories."

In speaking of his researches in the newspaper field, McClure declared that he had made a study of the crime situation in the United States in an effort to discover why it was much more prevalent here than in Great Britain and the countries of Europe. He declared that the secret of the success in suppressing crime in the countries of Europe is that the officials are not elected directly by the people and as a result are more permanent and can become more efficient while in the United States the officials usually remain in office only four or five years, and consequently are not able to cope with the organized crime.

150 ATTRACTED TO PROGRAM OF BUILDERS UNIT

FULLERTON, April 8.—The annual "women's night" program of the Orange County Builders' exchange was held last night in McFarland's cafe in Fullerton with 150 members and wives attending.

The program features for the evening were announced by V. J. Anderson, master of ceremonies. The guest prize was awarded to Olga Mrowka.

The Fullerton Kiwanis club quartet entertained with numerous musical numbers, accompanied at the piano by Harry Wilbur. Members of the quartet are Glenn Lewis, Dwight Goodwin, A. L. Foster and R. A. Marsden. A violin solo was played by Miss Lella Brown, accompanied by Miss Fern Hein.

Dwight Goodwin sang Scotch songs, with Harry Wilbur as accompanist. A comic dance was given by Miss Martha Grace Powell in costume, followed by a Negro reading by Mrs. E. A. Johannessen.

YORBA LINDA IN CAMPAIGN FOR STATE HOSPITAL

YORBA LINDA, April 8.—Possibilities of a state insane hospital for Yorba Linda were discussed Monday at the luncheon meeting of the Yorba Linda Chamber of Commerce after the presentation of the proposition by Secretary E. R. Walker.

Walker stated that he had been approached by W. F. Espolt, of La Habra, who suggested the Carlton townsite, a strip of unimproved land lying north of Citrus avenue and east of Rose drive, as a site for a state insane asylum for women, the institution to cost close to $1,000,000.

It was agreed that the only drawback against the proposition was the lack of a water supply and that the state might be able to secure this supply where a private enterprise could not. To ascertain public opinion in regard to the matter, a committee of three members, the Rev. Grover C. Ralston, C. H. Eichler and F. W. Fowler, was appointed to report at the next meeting.

Another improvement proposition was introduced by C. H. Eichler, who suggested the chamber of commerce start a movement to complete the park on Reservoir hill and open it for public use, with picnic tables and stoves. The land is the property of the Yorba Linda Water company, and permission of the board of directors to use it is necessary. Trees were planted there a number of years ago by the Women's club but the

ATTORNEYS IN BITTER FIGHT ON DOUGHNUTS

SEAL BEACH, April 8.—The universal fondness for doughnuts was the deciding factor in the verdict of "not guilty" which was rendered H. A. Russell, of Sunset Beach, in the mock trial held at the meeting of the chamber of commerce in the city hall last night.

The charge made against Russell was that he had failed to keep his promise to bring every member of the Sunset Beach Chamber of Commerce to last night's dinner meeting. The battle between F. Harry McCask, of Long Beach, prosecuting attorney, and J. A. Girling, attorney for the defense, caused much hilarity in the working out of the case. After discovering that all but one of the witnesses were extremely fond of doughnuts, it was decided that the absent members from Sunset Beach must undoubtedly be out searching for the recipe for the delicious doughnuts made by Mrs. C. Bond Harpole of Surf Side Colony, and that their absence on such a quest was entirely justified. The evidence, which consisted of two doughnuts, Exhibits A and B, was confiscated by the court at the conclusion of the trial. Claud D. Adams was the presiding judge, and also gave a fine talk before the trial.

Before the trial was held, guests of the evening were introduced, among whom were R. F. O'Connor, president of the Los Alamitos Sugar company; E. G. Johns, Scout executive of Los Alamitos; and a number of residents of Sunset Beach.

A vote for Frank Besser as our city recorder is a step forward—(Adv.)

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, April 8.—(UP)—Free covering by shorts toward the close on the Board of Trade today carried wheat sharply higher. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way up and aided the rise. Profit taking sales and selling against offers with more liberal offerings checked the advance in corn and the close was uneven. Prospects of insect damage, to wheat with reports of Hessian fly and cutworm infestation arriving daily, was a factor. Unexpected strength at Minneapolis played its part. Oats slowly followed the other grains but closed uneven. At the close wheat was 1/2 to 3/4 high with May unchanged, corn was 1/2 to 3/4 higher and oats were 1/2 to 3/4 lower to 1/2 higher. Provisions were weak.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 8.—(UP)—A technical rally lifted the stock market several points today but volume failed to pick up. The market, however, the sensation, resumed its march toward the 200 level, giving stocks a severe beating as they bid for stock to cover. United States Steel was the leader, forging ahead to cross 130 after touching a new low for the year yesterday at 125 1/2. Other steels followed and the whole industrial list joined the rise. Ralls rallied after an early dip on a decline in lead loadings. Auto picked up late in the day. Amusements ignored weakness in Film Am and even that issue called after touching a new 1931 low.

"THE KING IS DEAD, LONG LIVE THE KING"

William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago has been defeated. It was disheartening when he successfully pulled through in the primary. It seemed doubtful that moral indignation was any greater than that expressed in the primary. But Thompson is now out. Anton J. Cermak, a Bohemian immigrant has defeated William Hale Thompson, lion chaser. The ignominy is great.

But we are not concerned over the humiliation of "Big Bill" Thompson. The more serious matter, is the fact that the great mass of voters in Chicago had to choose between Thompson and Cermak, for Cermak has been, on many other occasions, the target for the reform elements of the city and they have exhausted every effort on other occasions to try to defeat him. They joined in with his political crowd to elect him this year after he was nominated to save themselves from the further curse of the mountebank and clown whose administration had brought to Chicago the major portion of its present bad reputation.

It is natural now, that the civic organizations of Chicago would endeavor to use the election of Cermak to rehabilitate the reputation of the "windy city." But as far as any permanent change in actual or decisive politics in respect to the observance or the enforcement of the law is concerned, the better element of Chicago are not deceived. There will be little change. "Bill" Thompson's henchmen will go out and Cermak's henchmen will come in and the housecleaning will to a very considerable extent only amount to a new foot on the desk and possibly a different brand of cigarettes. There is nothing in the history of Cermak or his political alliances that even suggests that Chicago has taken a serious step toward the setting of its civic life in order.

Babe Ruth got a ducking in Florida because he couldn't handle an oar. The ump, however, think he'll get in a good row before the season's o'er.

SHOULD IT COME OFF

In these days of immigration restriction and exclusion, and the growing prejudice against foreigners due to the growth of nationalism among our people, it is interesting to recall the inscription which is graven on the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty at the entrance of New York harbor. It was pointed out with pride in the earlier days, and a drama like "The Melting Pot," by Israel Zangwill, gave it a romantic glamor. Today few know that it is there. These are the lines, written by Emma Lazarus:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses, yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore—
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost, to me—
I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

We have no brief for free immigration. We must face facts, and not permit sentiment to determine our attitude in the matter. But so far as this exclusion is born of a superiority complex, a holier-than-thou feeling, an announcement to the rest of the world that outsiders are an inferior people, it is very unfortunate. We should like to believe that this was entirely absent in the immigration policy which has reversed all precedents. To be sure, the immigration law makes distinctions in favor of the scholar and others; but even there the scholar and the independent business man must have a place to teach or to do business before he is permitted to land.

It is quite evident that we have started on a course that will alter the whole character of our racial and national psychology, whether for better or worse time alone will reveal. The danger is, that while in the former years we were much too careless, both in the numbers and the character of our immigrants, in the future we may be so stringent as to exclude men like Franklin K. Lane, Senator James J. Davis, Knute Nelson, Carl Schurz, General Siegel, and a host of others who have added to the greatness of our country. Should the inscription on the Statue of Liberty come off, or be revised; or should we face the whole question of immigration in the interest of humanity, without in any wise inviting the destruction of our national ideals?

KNUTE ROCKNE'S MOTHER

When Knute Rockne's mother was interviewed by a newspaper man the day after his death, she is reported to have said, "Proud of him? No, not exactly proud. I knew my son was a good man. And that's all any mother wants to know of her son. Knute was a serious boy. Sooner or later God punishes us. I don't know what I have done, but I must have done something."

This is a good woman's estimate of God. He punishes people for things they know nothing about. Where did that conception of God come from? Certainly it was not born in that good woman's own heart. It is the inheritance of a theology which once had large sway in this country, and still is much held in Norway from which this mother came. We used to hear it in earlier days. If a child died, it was not unusual to hear the mother say, "Perhaps I loved it too much, and God does not want us to love anything more than Him."

It is hard to think of God in that way for some of us. We have been taught to believe that He is kind, and surely he who gave us the best picture of God loved little children. No wonder that there are people who have reacted against religion when God is pictured as punishing a mother because she has a mother's intense love for her child. It reminds us of a story told by one of the historians of early New England. The preacher was preaching a sermon on God, and he described Him as finding pleasure in the sufferings of the lost. He spoke of the all-seeing eye which watches us continuously. One of his hearers stepped forward after the preacher finished, and said to him, "Parson, your God is my devil."

We hope some one will say to Knute Rockne's mother that God is not punishing her so grievously through the sorrow that has come to her because she was proud of a son whom she knew to be a "good man".

WATER PEACE PRIZE

A new award for "valuable service in the cause of peace was made the other day. The Water Peace Prize was established by a Dutch subject who left his estate to the Carnegie Foundation on the condition that the annual revenue therefrom be left to the person rendering the most valuable services to the cause of peace, or who contributed most to finding the means of combating war. This 1931 award is the first one to be made.

Sir Eric Drummond, the person to be so honored, has for the past eleven years rendered valuable services in "the cause of the organization of the community of nations," as Secretary General of the League of Nations. Although Sir Eric accepted the award, he did not deem it proper for him to receive the $10,000 which is a concomitant of the honor. He asked the committee and directors of the Carnegie Foundation to use the money for furthering the League ideal of international cooperation and preservation of peace.

Once Upon a Time In Odense . . .

Christian Science Monitor
Once upon a time there lived in Odense, Denmark, a boy who wanted to be great. His name was Andersen. He had two other names, Hans and Christian. He had no quarrel with his surname. But Hans? No. It lacked the flavor of the great Shakespeare's name was William, and Hans loved Shakespeare. Scott's name was Walter, and Hans loved Scott. So one fine day when Hans was able to write something the public might like to read he changed his name to William Christian Walter.

And when his manuscript started its precarious journey round offices where men with powerful blue pencils brighten or blight the hopes of budding authors, it had all the weight of literary tradition on its side. But that availed it nothing. The manuscript blossomed for a day, then perished like a flower in a winter's frost. So the manuscript made a sad story, but true.

Then Hans thought, since it gained him nothing to use other people's names, he would try using his own. So he wrote "wonder" tales. He told just what a Fir Tree does when it leaves the forest in search of adventure. He told all about the Tin Soldier who blew out of the window on a gusty night; about the Swineherd, about the Snow Queen, about the Darning Needle, and about a whole lot of other things you would never dream could have such adventures.

And he told them as if his little audience were there in front of him instead of in the way some "big" writers do. All the time he used his own name. And people liked his stories. They like them still. You can tell by peeping into their hearts, which you can do when they are frank and friendly.

Now in this month of April, when everybody who has read Hans Andersen's tales likes to remember that this is his anniversary, it is interesting to recall this incident of more than ordinary importance, for it carries a moral, and whether Hans would admit it or not, that is one thing he always—well, nearly always—liked to convey. And the moral is: Don't try to be an elephant when you are just a bird, for you can do far more with the wings you have than you can with the ears of an elephant.

Science Accepts Byrd's Pole Record

Riverside Enterprise
A 15-page report has now been made to the National Geographic society by a committee of scientists who have been studying and checking carefully the data of Admiral Byrd's flight over the dully the data of Admiral Byrd's flight over the south pole. They have been at work on the report since last August. Their conclusion is that Byrd and his companions were at the south pole, "in so far as an observer in an airplane, using the most accurate instruments and methods available for determining his position, could ascertain."

The report deals matter-of-factly with Byrd's navigational methods, but is unable to blot out the stirring story of that flight, made in the face of many known hazards. Because the observations made during the flight were so painstakingly detailed and the instruments so carefully checked and re-checked by the navigator, the committee concludes they "prevented the introduction of any sizeable error in position."

Nearly all of us have long since accepted as fact the flight of Byrd over the south pole. It was so accepted when the first word of it came back to civilization by radio. Having that faith justified by scientific proof is valuable chiefly in its revelation of the method and the scientific quest for accuracy and truth.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE GLORIOUS GAME

There is fight in every muscle of the salmon,
As he battles through the rife-scattered spray;
He is strong and fierce and splendid,
Till the weary quest is ended,
And the shining creature pants his life away.
He will match the craft of man with noble courage,
Pitting strength and speed against the angler's guile
And when taken from the river, with his silver sides aquiver
Who has captured him has done a feat worth while.

There is gamy might and power in the tarpon,
As he leaps, enraged and shaking from the sea.
Bold and proud and self-reliant
Is this courtesan giant,
While he struggles like a hero to be free.
The hours seem to pass like flying minutes,
And the issue every instant stands in doubt
Till, with nerves and heart and muscle
Strained and broken in the tussle,
One more Titan of the seas is wearied out.

Those who find their sport in arduous endeavor
These knights-errant of the water to subdue,
Must prepare for gruelling hours
With the more than human powers
Of the strong and stubborn creatures they pursue.
An encounter with a salmon or a tarpon
Is the fiercest fight the human soul could wish,
It is great and fine and glorious
But it's too dogged and laborious
Which is just exactly why I never fish.

"It Butters No Bread"

For ten years, we have been preaching the doctrine, in season and out, that business cannot prosper without sustained consumer purchasing power. With such power, business cannot help prospering. Every other necessity is at hand.

"O. K.," writes a Chicago firm. "We are sold on that idea; but precisely what can each business enterprise do about it? Talking in general terms butters no bread."

To be specific, we list seven things which each business enterprise can at least try to do.

First of all, it can spread its production more evenly over the year. Example: the construction industry.

Second, it can set up a minimum payroll, based on a planned program, as a fixed charge on the business. Example: Procter and Gamble Company.

Third, it can set up unemployment reserve funds. Example: Dennison Manufacturing Company.

Fourth, if slack periods come, each concern can preserve its organization by reducing hours per man, rather than the number of men. Example: Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Fifth, it can refrain from paying huge dividends in boom times, in order to pay dividends in dull times. Example: United States Steel Corporation.

Sixth, it can spend more for raw materials and improvement of plant when trade is slack and prices are low. Example: American Radiator Company.

Seventh, it can spend more for advertising when others spend less, realizing that the time for business to step out is when business is said to be all in. Example: Curtis Publishing Company.

Our Chicago correspondent is right. General talk about the need of keeping up consumer income butters no bread. It doesn't even take the bread out of the baker's shop. But here are seven concrete ways of enabling consumers in hard times to keep on buying bread, and butter, too.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THREE KINDS OF ADVENTURE

The future belongs to the adventurous!

The world that preceded the coming of the current world-depression is dead despite the fact that it still functions in fumbling fashion.

The political processes of the future cannot be the same if politics is to be an asset instead of a liability to modern man.

The social order of the future cannot be the same if mankind is to realize the high hopes of security, leisure, and self-respect.

The economic system of the future cannot be the same.

Speaking specifically of the problem of under-girding the American order of free capitalism, social democracy, and representative government, the protectors of America will be the men and women who blaze new political, social and economic trails.

America needs the adventurous spirit as never before, but she must be clear about the kind of adventuresomeness in which she should indulge.

Edwin Ewart Aubrey, in his Religion and the Next Generation, speaks of three kinds of explorers.

There is, he says, the man "who reads of the African jungle in a book. The excitement of the chase is keen, but when the hunter gets into too tight a pinch, the reader can lay down the book and grasp the overstuffed arms of his own chair with reassurance.

Then there is, he says, the man "who goes for big game equipped with an elaborate menage of guides and cooks, assured that at the end the expedition will come out upon the proper day at a safe point beyond the jungle's edge."

And, finally, there are, he says, the men "who explore in jungles where no trail has been beaten and where odds are real odds in contests of strength, sagacity, and endurance."

It has become something of the fashion among political and economic leaders to profess an adventurous spirit. I know a good many distinguished leaders in the political and business and industrial life of America who belong to the first two kinds of adventurers. They like to dabble theoretically in new ideas. And they actually indulge in new policies when they are decently assured that they will come out "at a safe point beyond the jungle's edge."

But we must have in American politics, American business, American industry, and American finance, genuine explorers of the third kind.

The old and beaten roads have led to a blind end, but there is virgin territory waiting for the valid adventurers!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PRAM LIFE

Many babies spend much of their time in their prams. They sleep, play, ride and rest in their prams. And the things that happen to them there.

The pad in the pram ought to be plump and soft and cool. It should be shaken and aired daily. The pillows likewise. All soiled articles are to be removed from the pram immediately they are discovered. Nobody likes anything unpleasant in smell or feel about his bed. One of the best ways to teach a child cleanliness is by way of keeping his bed spotless, crib or pram.

The top of the pram is movable so that the light can be adjusted to the comfort of the child. Full sunlight shining in the face of the baby is bad for his eyes, bad for his rest. He cannot rest well, he does not get the right amount of restoring sleep, his body does not get the full benefit of the rebuilding that goes on during sleep, with this strong light full in his eyes. Tip the top to adjust the light and let his eyes be screened.

The pram has springs. These springs are to ease the pram over the road. They are not intended to be used to jounce the unfortunate baby up and down as though under the power of a churn dasher, for hours on end. Many a baby is jounced sea-sick by a mistaken nurse who believes that there is something healing and soothing in being tossed in a rocking, pitching vessel of wrath.

When a child sleeps he is to be left in quiet and peace, the light screened from his eyes, the bedclothes light and warm, the air about him clean and in free circulation. A shady corner of the porch, a place under a tree, some sheltered yet open nook, is ideal as a parking place for the pram. In a pushing the pram along deal gently with it and its passenger. Crossing a curb calls for care. Ease the wheels over. Don't jump them down and bump them. The baby feels every bump and every jolt. His tender body aches with the fatigue of resisting the roughness of the road and he cries pitifully.

Wheel him along like a prince in his chariot. Guard his route with the care that is given his royal highness of state. If a baby does not deserve that rank and care nobody does. Never jiggle and joggle and jolt him about to soothe him to slumber. A lullaby ought to be softly persuasive.

From time to time hang a new toy on the side of the pram. A gay balloon, as long as it lasts. A gay ball tethered by a bright ribbon, to pull and throw. Change off to a furry bear, to a rubber doll, to an ivory teething ring. Now and then a chime of tiny bells. Make his chariot-house comfortable, gay, welcoming.

Just think how much of his day is spent in the pram and make it count more for his comfort and growth. It will work both ways. The baby will be easier to manage, and you will have an easier day.

AUSTRIA'S BREAK

On April 8, 1917, the government of Austria-Hungary severed diplomatic relations with the government of the United States.

As soon as the announcement of the break was received by the administration orders were given for taking possession of the Austrian merchant vessels that had been self-interested in this country.

Here is an excerpt of the note handed to the American charge d'affaires at Vienna in the absence of Ambassador Penfield, who had left for America a few days previously:

"Since the United States of America has declared that a state of war exists between it and the Imperial German government, Austria-Hungary, as an ally of the German Empire, has decided to break off diplomatic relations with the United States, and the Imperial and Royal Embassy at Washington has been instructed to inform the Department of State to that effect."
